

REUNITED . . . Pfc. John W. Guinn hugs his tearful mother.

Mixup Brings Son Home To Mother In Tennessee

Elizabethton, Tenn. (P) — Joy in Tennessee meant heartbreak in Kentucky Friday, as a soldier was reunited here with the mother who thought him dead — and another mother took on the grief caused by an Army mixup in bodies.

The happy mother, Blanche Guinn, fainted at nearby Tri-City Airport moments after her son, Pfc. John W. Guinn, 23, stepped from an airliner which brought him home from Vietnam into her arms.

Her heartbreak, which Mrs. Guinn had borne for two weeks, had become that of Mrs. Samuel H. Tichenor of Louisville, Ky., who said she kept hoping for a second Army mistake. It was her son, another soldier serving in Vietnam, who was buried in the east Tennessee hills Tuesday.

Uncle Had Doubts
Nagging doubts as to Guinn's death caused an uncle to seek a double check — and the Army confirmed through fingerprints only Wednesday that Guinn, indeed, was alive — and Tichenor had been buried in his place.

"I was 500 meters (1,600 feet) from the other boy in a rice paddy when it happened," Guinn explained on his arrival here Friday. "I didn't know at the time he was killed." Both soldiers, in different infantry platoons, had been in the Vietnam battle zone for some 25 days near Chu Lai.

A crowd of 350 or so, including Guinn's congressman, cheered wildly as Guinn, red-eyed and ramrod straight, stepped from the plane. His mother, who burst into tears when she saw him, was virtually speechless.

"God bless you, God bless you, Oh, God bless you," she said, over and over, as her son embraced her. Then, while six younger brothers and sisters jumped up and down, Mrs. Guinn, in her 60s, fainted into the arms of Rep. James H. Quillen, R-Tenn.

Quillen, who lives at nearby Kingsport, was home for Thanksgiving when word arrived that Guinn was alive — and escorted the family to the airport. He also said he is demanding an explanation from the Army.

Blonde, 17
Also greeting Guinn at the airport was Patsy Stout, 17, an Elizabethton High School junior. The little blonde, who comes to Guinn's shoulder, said he had asked her to marry him before the young tobacco farmer left for Vietnam Sept. 20.

Asked by newsmen at the airport what he thought about the mixup, Guinn replied, "Well, it's bad for the other boy, bad for me, bad for my family and bad for his family." Guinn, home for a 30-day leave, will be reassigned to Ft. Bragg, N.C., when that time is up. Asked if he would return to Vietnam if asked during the rest of his year and a half in the Army, Guinn replied, "No, sir."

"This will be the best meal I'll have for a long time," said Mrs. Guinn, who quickly recovered her composure. "I'll always remember this Thanksgiving."

It was Thanksgiving morning that Mrs. Guinn received the telephone call from Vietnam which finally convinced her that her son is alive.

Complete Revision Of Districts Backed

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

An effort may be undertaken to totally revamp Nebraska's congressional districts next year by returning to traditional Platte River boundaries.

"That would definitely be desirable," Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln said Friday.

Meanwhile, it was learned that a tentative proposal to realign the districts using a Platte River division was prepared during the 1967 legislative session at one senator's request. The plan was never introduced as a bill.

'Ruled Out'

Gov. Norbert Tiemann's executive assistant, Clayton Yeutter, said the governor has "pretty much ruled out" any such wholesale change in congressional district boundaries.

Tiemann's present plan is to attempt to draw new boundaries "with a minimum of dislocation," Yeutter said. However, he anticipates that a Platte River division is likely to be proposed by others.

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, chairman of the Legislative Council's executive board, said he has also "heard that is a possibility."

Alternatives

Warner said he is "sure there will be more than one alternative" proposed when the Legislature convenes in special session early next year to realign congressional districts.

Tiemann announced that he will summon the lawmakers back to Lincoln for that purpose in the wake of a federal court order kaying the 1961 reapportionment act as unconstitutional.

The three districts fail to provide electoral equality, the court stated. Population disparity among districts peaked at 31% under 1960 census figures, and is now about 17%, according to 1966 estimates.

26 Counties

Prior to 1961, the First District (which includes Lincoln) was composed of 26 southern Nebraska counties lying south of the Platte.

The decision to scrap the traditional river division and extend First District boundaries northward to the South Dakota border came on a tight 22-18 vote in the 1961 Legislature and over the objections of most southern Nebraska lawmakers.

Formation of a new congressional district composed of all 35 counties which lie completely south of the South Platte would encompass a population of about 503,000, according to 1966 estimates of the University of Nebraska Bureau of Business Research.

Ideal Population

Ideal population for each district is about 505,000, according to those estimates.

Mrs. Orme said a Platte River division would return to traditional commerce and transportation ties.

Warner said he believes some senators are "probably looking" at the possibility of a river division, but he has no strong sentiments on the issue.

"It would seem to me we could probably develop suitable new boundaries acceptable to the court without that kind of change," he noted.

Sen. Roland Luedtke of Lincoln said he is "more interested in developing a contiguous line which gets us within the magic population figure than in returning to any river line."

Woman Is Arrested; Drug Count

A 39-year-old Lincoln woman was arrested Friday evening for the illegal possession of drugs, police said.

According to the police, the woman, whose name was withheld, telephoned the pharmaceutical counter at Treasure City and ordered a prescription of dioxin, a stimulant pill similar to benzedrine, after identifying herself as a doctor.

The pharmacist became suspicious since it was the third time within a month that he had given the woman a prescription of this sort, police said, so he called the doctor back to confirm the order.

The doctor claimed that she had not placed the order and told the pharmacist to call the Medical Examining Board so the proper action could be taken.

Once the board was notified, police said, then the pharmacist called the police department and the Highway Patrol.

A vice squad detective and an investigator from the drug control section of the Highway Patrol arrested the woman after she picked up the prescription, police said. The woman had already taken a number of the pills, police said.

Authorities said that the woman admitted that she had been taking the drug for approximately 1½ years by using the same technique at different drug stores in the city.

Each prescription, according to the police, contained about 100 pills of the drug.

Animal Infection Plagues Britain

London (P) — Britain's biggest-ever outbreak of foot and mouth disease spread to 59 more farms Friday, the Agriculture Ministry reported.

A total of 963 farms have now been infected and 170,885 animals slaughtered.

U Thant Fears Cyprus Storm

... PEACE EFFORT PRESSED

Nicosia, Cyprus (P) — Hundreds of Americans were hurried out of Cyprus Friday amid new international efforts to prevent war looming between Greece and Turkey.

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant in his latest appraisal of the situation said there were signs the two countries were "at the brink of war over Cyprus."

A third top-level envoy, NATO Secretary-General Manlio Brosio, joined the peace effort led by the United States, the United Nations and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Early Saturday there were no indications of an invasion.

Explosions

Bomb explosions rocked Greek sectors in three Cyprus towns late Friday night, but none caused either casualties or any serious damage.

There were two explosions in Nicosia, two in the south coast port of Limassol and one in the east coast port of Famagusta.

Nightly
Bomb explosions have occurred nightly as tensions increased.

The Greek Cypriot government in Nicosia ordered a general mobilization against a possible Turkish invasion of the island 40 miles south of Turkey's coast.

President Archbishop Makarios, making his first broadcast on the crisis, declared that Greek Cypriots do not want war with Turkey. But if it comes, he said, "We shall defend ourselves with all possible means and with all our strength."

Vance, Rolz-Bennett

President Johnson's envoy, Cyrus R. Vance, and Jose Rolz-Bennett, representing Thant, were in Athens to explore avenues to peace with Greek officials. They had talked with the Turks in Ankara Thursday.

In Brussels, a NATO spokesman said both Greece and Turkey have accepted the good offices of Brosio in their dispute. He was expected to leave quickly for Athens and then Ankara.

NATO members were said to have given Brosio unanimous support to try to mediate between the two NATO nations which hold strategic positions on the alliance's southeastern flank.

Sore Point

Cyprus, a British colony until seven years ago, historically has been a sore point in Greek-Turk relations because of ill feeling between the Greek Orthodox who dominate the island and its Turkish Moslem minority. The latest crisis developed from an outbreak of intercommunal fighting last week.

U.S., Britain Join Thant Appeal For Restraint

United Nations, N. Y. (P) — The United States and Britain joined U. N. Secretary-General U Thant Friday night in appealing to Turkey, Greece and Cyprus to use restraint and cooperate in efforts to head off a war in the area.

The two Western powers addressed the U. N. Security Council after Cyprus had called on the 15-nation body to protect it from what it described as an "imminent threat of attack and invasion" by Turkey.

The appeal was made by Cypriot Ambassador Zenon Rossides after Thant said indications were "that Greece and Turkey are at the brink of war over Cyprus."

Britain's Lord Caradon and U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg praised Thant's initiative and urged the council as well as the governments directly concerned to cooperate in peace efforts.

Rossides told the 15-nation council "It is the knowledge of all governments that this weekend has been fixed for the invasion of Cyprus."

Turkey's Ambassador Orhan Eralp quickly replied with a charge that Greece has been taking steps aimed at the annexation of Cyprus. This, he said, was the background of the recent attack on the Turkish minority.

'Brutal'

"The attack on the Turkish Cypriot villages has been brutal beyond description," Eralp declared.

Greek Ambassador Dimitri S. Bitsios blamed Turkey for the Cyprus crisis. He said events "are going at a headlong pace."

He offered to cooperate with Thant in his appeal for the exercise of restraint. The task of the council, he said, "is clear — to prevent the use of force."

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko declared that the Cypriot situation is being inspired by external reactionary forces — particularly by the Greek military junta and the United States.

Visiting Nursing Not New Idea

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Although she has been retired many years from nursing, a Capital City pioneer nevertheless is quite familiar with visiting nursing, considered to be a new program for Lincoln.

Miss Emily Schrader of 502 So. 12th, now 89, did 13 years of general duty nursing "in the days when nurses went to patients' homes and stayed overnight."

"You were supposed to get two hours off every day, but maybe you did and maybe you didn't."

Many operations, she remembered, "were performed on kitchen tables."

First In Schools

Miss Schrader later served as the first full-time school nurse in the Lincoln Public Schools.

Born in eastern Germany, the charming lady came to the United States when she was 14 years old and lived in Massachusetts with relatives. She is one of the Nebraskans who came here originally for a visit and liked the climate so she stayed.

Miss Schrader received her nurse's training at the Lincoln Sanitarium, operated by Dr. Milton Everett. Opened in 1893, it was designed as a hydro-therapeutics institution but later developed into a hospital for surgical work.

The sanitarium was located at 14th and M Sts. on land now occupied by O'Shea-Rogers, recalled Miss Schrader.

Student nurses "get a lot more theory than we had," she observed, comparing her training with nurses today. "Ours was more on the practical side."

Nursing education at the turn of the century was a shorter course, generally lasting only two years. However, Miss Schrader studied a third year because she wanted to work in the then developing field of surgery.

After her general duty nursing, Miss Schrader pioneered school nursing. For 10 years she spent one day each week at Longfellow, Park, Everett and Hayward Schools.

Miss Schrader later headed the nursery at Lincoln General Hospital until her retirement.

State Youth Challenged By NY Ghetto Worker

A member of the "new generation" who is experienced in New York City ghetto work challenged Nebraska youth Friday to re-evaluate society's prejudices and pressures immediately.

Serving as resource leader for the annual Nebraska Christian Youth Conference here dealing with "The New Generation — After Now What?" Patti Jarvis of Wheeling, W.Va. opened the session by relating her experiences of entering work in a slum area.

"If you wait until you are a junior in college to grow up, like I did, we are in trouble as a society and we are in trouble as a church," warned Miss Jarvis.

After taking a six-weeks' summer job with the Methodist Church, she had been assigned to help operate a day camp for children, 5-12 years old, in East Harlem.

When she had finished college, Miss Jarvis returned to New York for a permanent position in similar work dealing with teen-agers.

The 25-year-old speaker later was named a "special ambassador" for the Methodist Church to address youth groups throughout the nation.

An accomplished folk guitarist, the tall, dark-haired soprano singer uses music as an introduction to her message for young audiences. Miss Jarvis has written some of her own songs to perform.

The annual two-day conference, sponsored by the Nebraska Council of Churches, attracted 250 youth leaders from churches in the state.

New York Times
News Summary

(C) New York Times News Service

Athens—A formula for averting war between Turkey and Greece is expected to be presented to the Turks Saturday in Ankara by Cyrus K. Vance, the U.S. presidential envoy. Diplomatic sources were quoted as saying that the proposal envisaged an appeal by the United Nations both to Greece and to Turkey. The Greeks would be asked to withdraw all or most of their troops from Cyprus and the Turks would be asked to remove their threat to invade the island.

Makarios Speaks In Despair

Nicosia—President Makarios told his nation Friday night that the possibility of avoiding war with Turkey no longer rested in Cypriot hands. In his message, the Cypriot leader was described as having spoken more in despair than in anger in saying Turkey "may force war on us." He said that if war did come to the island, Cyprus would defend itself with dignity and honor.

Thant Urges Restraint

United Nations, N.Y.—Secretary-General Thant sent a new urgent appeal to Cyprus, Greece and Turkey to refrain from any warlike actions against each other. (More on Page 1)

Guerrillas Thrown Back

Saigon—It was reported that the Viet Cong had attacked a U.S. 1st Infantry Division position near the South Vietnamese capital and had reached the outer defensive barbed wire before being beaten back. A division spokesman said 57 Viet Cong and four American soldiers were killed and 21 wounded. (More on Page 2)

Luftwaffe Wants Phantoms

Bonn—The West German air force has decided to try to acquire up to 220 Phantom jets from the United States, according to normally reliable sources. The most of the jets, which are made by the McDonnell Aircraft Co., would total about $1 billion. Both the West German defense ministry and the U.S. Embassy have declined to confirm or deny the report.

Laborites Suffer Defeat

London—The British Labor Party suffered a severe defeat in the first by-election since the pound was devalued. The Conservatives held Derbyshire West, a seat they had won before, with a sharply increased majority. Labor dropped to third place, below the usual also-rans, the Liberals. (More on Page 5)

No Gold Change Eyed

San Antonio—The administration was seeking to dampen international speculation against the dollar through purchases of gold in the world markets. George Christian, the White House press secretary, said there would be no change in the U.S. commitment to continue to supply gold through a seven-nation gold pool, which takes up the slack in supply when buyers deplete the normal market reserves. (Another Story on Page 2)

Navy Closes Door

Washington—The Navy closed what appeared to be the last door on the bizarre and controversial case of Lt. Cmdr. Marcus Aurelius Arnheiter. The officer was summarily relieved of command of a warship off Vietnam in 1966, after a series of complaints from his fellow officers and crew. He was later judged unfit for "further assignment to command." A terse statement issued by the Navy secretary said the case had been thoroughly reviewed at the highest levels of the Navy department and that no further inquiry appeared necessary. # European Gold Buying Attains Stampede Level

London (P) — The record rush to buy gold reached stampede levels in the bullion markets of Western Europe Friday, reflecting widespread anxiety over monetary values in the wake of devaluation of the pound.

In London, gold dealers said buying orders were arriving in "near panic" proportions from all over the world.

Paris reported sales 10 times above normal.

'Near Pandemonium'

In Johannesburg, stock exchange dealers jostled each other in their efforts to buy gold mining stocks. The scene was described as "near pandemonium." South Africa, as one of the leading producers of gold, would profit heavily if its price rose.

The Swiss National Bank advised leading banks to halt temporarily forward sales of gold, for delivery in 30, 60 or 90 days, in a move to protect its supply of dollars.

The drive for gold was a broad movement to change paper money for the solidity of metal. The price of silver in the London metal market soared to a new high of $2.10 an ounce.

Unease About Dollar

Behind the move appeared to be general uneasiness about the strength of the dollar and speculation that the price of gold may be revalued upward from the $35 an ounce the U.S. government pays.

But in Washington, the Treasury Department stood unmoved behind President Johnson's Nov. 18 pledge to maintain the value of the U.S. dollar in terms of gold.

And in London the international gold pool steadied the metal's price by continuing to supply the bullion market with the gold needed to satisfy all demand. The pool was set up in 1962 by eight nations for this purpose. The United States supplies more than 50% of the pool's needs.

France Out

France suspended its role in the pool in June and disclosure of this Monday undoubtedly contributed to the general uneasiness. The United States took over the 9% share that France held.

Figures on sales in the bullion market here are never made public but well over 100 tons was believed to have changed hands Friday. A ton of gold is worth $1.2 million.

The story was different on the London Stock Exchange, which witnessed a further plunge of prices.

British government bonds, however, remained steady throughout the day. The pound remained steady just under its new ceiling at $2.4995.

Malaysia Riot Under Control

Penang, Malaysia (P) — A mild demonstration to protest currency devaluation developed into furious battles between Chinese and Malays in this tropical tourist city Friday. A curfew ended the fighting after nearly six hours.

Police said eight were killed and 119 injured, 44 of them seriously in the most serious racial disturbance in Malaysia in three years.

Tun Abdul Razak, deputy prime minister, blamed the disorder on "Communist supporters and gangsters." Razak, a Malay, and Commerce Minister Lim Swee Aun, a Chinese, broadcast appeals for calm.

The central government had rushed police and troop reinforcements to Penang, an island city 450 miles north of Singapore.

WOUNDED MEN . . . are helped into helicopter near Dak To.

Viet Cong Wield Flame Throwers

Saigon (P) — Viet Cong troops wielding flame throwers attacked a South Vietnamese army post 70 miles north of Saigon Saturday in the same area where the Communists staged a diversionary assault Oct. 27 before the big battle at Loc Ninh.

A South Vietnamese military spokesman said the pre-dawn attack was repulsed with 100 of the Viet Cong killed and 39 weapons captured. The spokesman said South Vietnamese casualties were light.

Among the weapons captured were five anti-aircraft machine guns, 22 AK47 Communist Chinese assault rifles and two flame throwers.

Fresh Clashes

The fighting near the Cambodian border erupted as fresh clashes were reported Friday in three areas of South Vietnam's central highlands 25 to 50 miles south of Dak To, where a bloody three-week battle ended Thanksgiving Day.

In the largest of Friday's three clashes, a Viet Cong ambush heavily damaged a U.S. truck convoy near Pleiku City and the Americans killed 38 of the attackers.

Opposing the Viet Cong were mechanized elements of the 1st Brigade of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division.

2-Hour Fight
Just southwest of Pleiku City, other mechanized units of the 4th Division clashed with an enemy force and killed six of them in a two-hour fight. One infantryman was killed and four wounded.

Also in the central highlands, U.S. B52 bombers staged two more raids on North Vietnamese escape routes and troop concentrations in the Dak To sector.

The U.S. command revised upward the casualty figures for both sides in the Dak To battle, bloodiest of the war.

Spokesmen said 280 Americans, 52 South Vietnamese and 1,398 of the enemy were killed. There were 974 American and 153 South Vietnamese wounded.

Troops of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division and helicopter gunships beat off a Communist ambush of a truck convoy as it neared Pleiku.

9 Girls Sentenced

Hong Kong (P) — Nine Chinese schoolgirls were sent to jail for a month for demonstrating at their school in support of a schoolmate who had been expelled because of alleged Communist activities.

Confidence Declared

Washington (P) — Firm confidence in the ability of the dollar to ride out the storm of European gold speculation was declared Friday by the managing director of the 107-nation International Monetary Fund.

Pierre-Paul Schweitzer, in an interview recorded for broadcast by the Voice of America, described as a temporary flurry the rush to exchange dollars for gold, in the wake of devaluation of the British pound.

He said it will be overcome by the determination of the financial power to support the pound and maintain their own currency values.

Earlier, both the White

House and Treasury officials avowed full confidence that American and world resources are ample to protect the dollar from following the pound into devaluation.

Presidential press secretary George Christian told newsmen in San Antonio, Tex., he wanted to underscore President Johnson's assurance of Nov. 18—that Johnson would "reaffirm unequivocally" the U.S. determination to maintain its guaranteed price of $35 an ounce to anyone wanting to buy gold.

To let the price go higher would be a devaluation of the dollar and would disrupt money markets around the world.

Antitrust Suit Charges Undertaker Conspiracy

(C) New York Times Service

Washington — The Department of Justice charged the National Association of Funeral Directors of the United States, Inc., Friday with coercing undertakers to keep from advertising the price of funerals.

The antitrust suit was filed in U.S. District Court in Milwaukee, where the association has its headquarters. The Justice Department action was announced here by Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark.

The complaint charged that "beginning at least in 1942 and continuing" to the present, the association and co-conspirators had engaged in "a combination of conspiracy and unreasonable restraint" of interstate commerce.

Named as co-conspirators in the complaint were "various state and local funeral directors," but these were not named as defendants.

The Justice Department said there were more than 25,000 funeral directors in the U.S. doing an annual business of $1.6 billion, exclusive of the cost of burial plots, flowers and shipment of remains. Products purchased by funeral directors for use in conducting funerals, it said, exceeded $25 million a year.

About 14,000 funeral directors are members of state associations affiliated with the national organization whose code of ethics prohibits price advertising. These 14,000 members, the Justice Department said, conduct more than 75% of all funerals in the country.

In a statement from Milwaukee, William G. Hardy Jr. of Louisville, Ky., president of the national association, said the organization had not seen a copy of the Justice Department's complaint.

The effect of the conspiracy, the Justice Department said, has been that "price competition among funeral directors has been inhibited and . . . the freedom of funeral directors to advertise their own individual prices has been restrained and curtailed."

Wayne's Middle School Plan 'Working Out Well'

... 'IDEA ESSENTIALLY NEW TO MIDWEST'

By GARY CLAXTON
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Wayne-The Wayne School System this fall became the first public school system in the state to adopt the middle school concept of organization.

And according to School Supt. Francis R. Haun, the program is working out very well.

Grades 5-8
The Wayne elementary school now includes only students in grades one through four and kindergarten. The middle school, located in the former high school building, consists of students in grades five through eight.

Grades nine through 12 are attending classes for the first

Grand Ruler To Dedicate Elks Lodge

A week of dedication activities at the new Lincoln Elks Lodge No. 80 will begin Saturday with the arrival of Robert E. Boney of Las Cruces, N.M., grand exalted ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

Boney will be honored with a reception dinner and dance at 5:30 p.m. Saturday. On Sunday he will be the principal speaker at the 2 p.m. dedication ceremonies, conducted by the Scottsbluff Elks Lodge.

Preceding the ceremonies, which are open to the public, new members will be installed by the Kearney Elks Lodge.

Buffets and dances will be held each evening during the week, through Dec. 2.

Nixon Slated For Omaha Visit Dec. 15

Omaha (P) — Former Vice President Richard Nixon's first appearance in Nebraska in the 1968 presidential campaign will come Dec. 15, it was announced Friday. His speech is billed as non-political, however.

The former Republican vice president, who will be entered in next spring's Nebraska presidential preference primary, will address Omaha area college and university students at 1:15 p.m. at the Brandeis Student Center on the Creighton University campus.

His visit will be under the auspices of the Creighton University Young Republican Club.

Organized Hunt Set Monday For R. Sutton's Body

Santee (UPI) — An organized search of Lewis and Clark Lake is scheduled to be made Monday for the body of a Lincoln, Neb., man believed to have drowned here last week with his father.

The body of Albert Sutton, 50, was recovered Saturday tangled in the lines of a cap-sized fishing boat, but Army Corps of Engineers searchers have so far not located Richard Sutton, 26.

A spokesman for the corps said the search would begin at 10 a.m. from the Gibbs resort area near here.

year in a new $950,000 high school building.

The only other similar school structuring in the state was instituted this fall by the Lincoln diocese parochial school system.

Father Ivan Vap, superintendent of Lincoln's Pius X High School, said "We took a look at the Wayne system and used some of the same basic research that they used in setting up our program."

"We implemented the concept as a matter of logistics," Wayne School Supt. Francis R. Haun said. "We had to have a building program."

Popular In East

Various alternatives were discussed, he said. The school board researched the middle school concept, which has become widespread in the East.

"After visiting some of the middle schools in operation, we were sufficiently impressed that we thought we would try it here in Wayne," he said.

"The idea is essentially new to the Midwest," he said. "There's no set pattern. Some school systems use different grades such as six through nine as the middle school."

He noted that the middle school can serve as an expansion link in a school system. Grades may be added or subtracted to meet changing enrollment pressures.

"The middle school allows students to adapt gradually to high school departmentalization from the self-contained classroom situation of the elementary school," he said.

Grades five and six are semi-departmentalized. Science and mathematics are taught in one class and social studies and language arts are taught in another.

Work Loads Reduced
Faculty work loads are reduced because teachers are responsible for only two or three subjects. Yet the students spend a considerable amount of time with each teacher and a great part of the time with one.

Students also change locations for art, music and physical education classes.

Grades seven and eight are fully departmentalized with the exception of one block-time core class in seventh grade social studies and English.

Heart of the middle school is a learning center in which each student spends two periods each week working on individual projects and teaching machines.

The room can provide remedial teaching for slow learners, enrichment for normal learners and unlimited freedom for quick learners, Haun said.

Railway Board Sets 3 UP Station Closing Hearings

The State Railway Commission Friday reported it has set hearing dates for the closing of three Union Pacific railroad stations in Nebraska.

The dates, times and places of the hearings are:

—Dannebrog, set for hearing Jan. 30 at 9:30 a.m. in the city hall.

—Pickrell, set for hearing Feb. 1 at 10:30 in the Beatrice Court House.

—Elkhorn, Feb. 6 at 10:30 a.m. in the community building at Elkhorn.

Middle school Principal Loren Park said the center is working even better than expected and the students appear to be quite excited about spending time there.

"We want to expand this learning center," Haun said. "But this is a matter of funds. We've carried it as far as we can with this year's budget."

"Then we want to get into educational television, which will be made available about Dec. 1," he said.

"Our scheduling allows students to take more courses. We think they should also be taking exploratory courses."

Citizen Grabs 'Coin Bandits'

More than 40 coin-operated machine thefts were cleared by the apprehension of two Lincoln youths by a citizen Friday evening, police said.

The arrests were made after a citizen discovered the youths roaming around inside a fraternity house at 1425 R and apprehended them after they tried to run away, police said.

Lt. Arthur Aksamit said that one of the youths was jailed and the other given a polygraph test after permission was given by the youth's father.

The surprising thing, Aksamit said, was that more offenses were cleared than were reported.

The admission by the youths also implicated others involved in thefts that will total "many hundreds of dollars," police said.

Lt. Aksamit said that the real credit goes to Barry I. Douhauert of 1425 R, who chased the youths, captured them and held them until the police arrived.

"We appreciate the alertness of Mr. Douhauert in apprehending the boys," Lt. Aksamit said. "He proved that Lincoln's citizens are willing to help the police when help is needed."

Curtain Falling On State's Centennial Events Today

By United Press International
The nine-month commemoration of Nebraska's statehood Centennial will close in a flurry of activity in five cities Saturday.

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann will attend the ceremonies in Scottsbluff, North Platte, Grand Island, O'Neill and Omaha.

He will be accompanied on the cross-state journey by Gerald J. McGinley of Ogallala, chairman of the Centennial Commission, and Don H. Shriner, commission director.

Began March 1
The Centennial observance

began March 1 when the governor pulled the lanyard on a 105-millimeter howitzer cannon on the north grounds of the state capitol.

It will end with the governor and his wife leading the grand march at the Century Ball in the Omaha Civic Auditorium at 6:45 p.m. Saturday.

During the past nine months, parades, historical pageants, beauty contests, barbecues and many other events have been the order of the day. Nearly every town in Nebraska joined in the gala celebrating.

Nebraska became a state on March 1, 1867, when a reluctant President Andrew Johnson sent word he had signed the proclamation of statehood.

Here is a rundown on the final Saturday Centennial celebration plans:

Scottsbluff—Parade, Nebraska heritage festival at armory, hobby and antique shows, concert by area high schools, tea for county centennial queens and area mayors' wives, and an evening dance.

North Platte—Style and hobby shows, teenage jamboree, free barbecue, program featuring David Brinkley at 8 p.m. at Adams Junior High School and an evening dance.

Grand Island—YWCA to open Christmas decoration show, painting demonstrations, afternoon children's program, Nebraska speech contest, program featuring Civic Symphony of Hastings and City Singers, evening rock and roll and square dances.

O'Neill—Afternoon parade featuring bands from a 27-county area, art and antique shows, coffee for mayors, tea for county centennial queens, talent show, free barbecue and three dances.

Omaha—Parade featuring Tanager Temple and area units, NASA lunar orbiter exhibit, beard-cutting at courthouse, treasure hunt in three city parks, square dance festival at Ak-Sar.

Ben, district Boy Scouts gathering at University of Omaha Fieldhouse and grand ball at Civic Auditorium.

Utah Court Stays Escapee Extradition

Farmington, Utah (UPI)—An appeal to the Utah Supreme Court on behalf of Jose F. Rodrigues, an escapee from the Nebraska State Prison for the past 28 years, has halted extradition of Rodrigues.

Maxwell Bentley, attorney for the convicted murderer, filed the appeal in connection with a writ of habeas corpus denied by Second District Court Judge Thornley K. Swan here earlier.

Sheriff Ken Hammon had notified Nebraska authorities and a car was sent to Utah to return Rodrigues when the stay of extradition was granted until action could be taken by the Utah Supreme Court.

In his appeal, Bentley contended Rodrigues was being held illegally because bail had not been set on the fugitive charge. Rodrigues was being held in the Davis County jail on a governor's warrant for escaping from prison in March, 1939. Bentley said he believed the governor's warrant was bailable.

A post-conviction hearing is scheduled in Nebraska, Bentley said, to argue Rodrigues was not given his civil rights when he was convicted in 1926. Bentley said Rodrigues was arrested for first degree murder and convicted the following day without the right to counsel, a qualified interpreter or trial.

State's Traffic Dips One Pct.

October traffic statistics gathered by the State Department of Roads from checkpoints across the state show a one per cent decrease in the use of Nebraska streets and highways last month, as compared with October last year.

A 9% increase in daily travel over interstate 80 at the Douglas-Sarpy County lines was reported.

Over-all, the October traffic represented an 8% decrease from September.

Comparisons of October traffic at selected checkpoints, with year-ago levels:

U.S. 30 west of Elm Creek, down 2%
U.S. 77-275 north of Fremont, up 23%
U.S. 6 north of Gretna, down 1%
U.S. 73-75 south of Union, up 1%
U.S. 20 west of South Sioux City, down 3%
U.S. 20 east of Chadron, down 3%
U.S. 634 west of Arapahoe, down 9%
Interstate 80 east of Overton junction, up 19%
U.S. 26 east of Scottsbluff, up 5%
U.S. 34 at Nebraska-Colorado state line, down 11%.

EVENTS
IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

A new and modern Sears Roebuck and Co. could be opening in the Gateway Shopping Center early in 1971 or even in time for Christmas of 1970. But how could this happen, you ask, when the latest report by consultants and a majority of city officials are opposed to such a development?

The latest report is that submitted to the city this week by Hammer, Greene, Siler Associates, economic consultants from Washington, D.C. This report states: "The relocation of the downtown Sears store to the east (near Gateway or North 48th St.) would have a substantial adverse impact on the downtown retail complex."

The last time around before the City Council, Sears failed to come close to obtaining the votes it needed to allow the zoning change that would put it next to Gateway. So, how could it now obtain what it wants?

Significantly, the consultants' report does not state flatly that Sears should not move to Gateway. It simply says it would have an adverse effect upon downtown to do so.

Further, when examined in the context of the total report, the Sears move could be handled in a manner that would not place it in conflict with that report. The report, for instance, calls for development of downtown in ways other than retailing to compensate for changes in the retail pattern that are considered inevitable and, perhaps, even advisable.

Secondly, the report provides a table of retail growth outside downtown that would allow Sears to move out, in the 1970-71 time period. This table calls for an expansion of 150,000 in retail square footage in 1970-71 for areas outside of downtown.

The recommended expansion would come in the south, notably the So. 27th area, along No. 48th or at Gateway. Sears had originally applied for a zoning change that would allow it to construct a 150,000-to-175,000-square-foot store.

Obviously, Sears could be accommodated with the table of growth as recommended for 1970-71. And another 250,000 square feet of expansion is recommended for the period 1971-75.

If Sears had to have it, a few square feet out of the 1971-75 period could undoubtedly be "borrowed" to facilitate a move to Gateway. Beyond all this is the fact that the city would like to give Sears what it wants if it can find a way of doing so.

This is perfectly understandable, of course, since Sears is an asset to the community. What the city cannot do is give Sears what it wants in violation of the city's comprehensive plan, but the new report may provide a legitimate way out.

This would not be done, of course, without some conflicts. If you give Sears what it wants and stick with the comprehensive plan, all other retail expansion is locked out until we enter the 1971-75 period.

That would mean no expansion in the No. 48th area where a major expansion is being pushed. It would mean no expansion near 48th and Van Dorn where another development is being pushed.

This would involve some tough decisions, too, but the Sears move still is possible in view of the latest report by consultants to the city. There is a simultaneous demand for more diligent and diversified efforts downtown but this demand gets into a fuzzy area of responsibility that could be glossed over by the city officials.

It is hard to see in this latest report any provision in the future for additional regional shopping centers on the order of Gateway. Such expansions are loosely referred to in fairly complimentary words but the report seems so vague on this score as to preclude such developments.

This discussion has centered on one specific detail of the new report because that detail is of great current concern and importance. The report, however, contains a great deal more of importance for Lincoln and its citizens and some of this will be discussed here Monday.

JAMES RESTON
Capital Had Trouble
Being Very Thankful

WASHINGTON — The capital had a hard time this Thanksgiving Day. The weather was bleak and the news from the battleground around Dak To in Vietnam was worse. There was a financial crisis in Britain and political crisis in Cyprus and the Middle East, and General De Gaulle, like the ghouls in the Middle Ages, was stripping the wounded on the battlefields.

At home, the problem of giving thanks was no easier. The poor, who are supposed to be remembered on Thanksgiving Day, were in trouble. In fact, the administration's poverty program was under such pressure in the Congress that funds were steadily being withdrawn from federal programs in some of the worst slums in the country.

Nevertheless, it was possible, though it was certainly not easy, to find some reason for Thanksgiving here. Washington was seizing on the most optimistic reports from Southeast Asia and from Europe. Officials were arguing, and with some cause, that things could be worse. Despite the agony and the losses at Dak To, the sum of the reports from all the other battlefields in Vietnam was not too bad.

In general, the divisions within the communist world were undoubtedly even more serious than the divisions within the Western world. The Johnson administration had actually lost control of the issue of war or peace. It had taken so many risks, that, if Moscow and Peking matched our weapons with their weapons, the Vietnamese war could easily get out of hand, but they had not done so. This was something to be thankful for, and Washington this weekend was certainly thankful.

There were consolations at home as well. The poverty program was not going well. The Congress was refusing to give the administration the funds it wanted for the slums, but even so, the standard of living in the country as a whole and even of the people in the ghettos was better than it was a year ago and much better than it was three years ago.

Washington paused during the Thanksgiving holiday and followed the old religious ritual. It took time out and went to church and pretended that it believed in what President Washington said in the first presidential Thanksgiving proclamation in 1789, that "it is the duty of all nations to acknowledge the Providence of Almighty God, to obey His will, and to be grateful for His benefits."

But this is precisely the problem in Washington today. Officials, like most everybody else in the country, proclaim the old doctrines but do not really have the old faith. They advertise their optimism, every hour on the hour, like a singing commercial, but they don't really believe it. Thanksgiving Day is not a prayer, but a holiday.

Religious holidays are always a problem for Washington. It is a sophisticated and cynical city, deeply involved in all the ambiguous problems of the modern world. Yet it is still a border town, fuller of men who come here out of the old religious traditions.

Black Mark On Record

Former state senator, Le Roy Bahensky of St. Paul, is concerned over a problem that is a black mark upon our society. In the midst of fantastic progress in almost any field of endeavor you care to examine, our civilization continues to slaughter people at railroad crossings.

Bahensky is working for introduction in the next regular session of the Legislature for a radio-keyed warning system at these crossings. It is a system that has been criticized by railroad spokesmen because it is not fail safe. In other words, it could fail to function and thereby enhance rather than diminish the danger to the traveling public.

We can understand the railroads' concern here and we can understand the difficulty and economy of the whole situation. It is not a simple matter when you consider the thousands of crossings there are in Nebraska. To signalize them with methods known and approved of at this time would cost a fortune the roads or the state of Nebraska does not have.

Yet, it seems that a nation that can conquer space should be able to devise some means of meeting this problem. One caller to this office suggested the use on railroad engines of a strobe light, a flashing or oscillating light of such high intensity that it is visible even in bright sunlight.

Such a light may not be the answer but surely there is some means of providing motorists with a warning of approaching trains at their intersection with roads and highways. We should not be content with the current pattern of events, leaving crossings unprotected until people are killed at them and then erecting a warning system. This is a most distressing and inhuman way of meeting the problem.

A Medical, Not Legal, Problem

More and more, the judicial system is recognizing what the medical profession has known for years: alcoholism is not a crime, it's a disease. And the courts, too, are recognizing that it doesn't make sense to arrest a man for drunkenness, fine him and release him without therapy. The chronic alcoholic—like the victim of kleptomania, pyromania or homosexuality—needs treatment, not arrest.

The Common Pleas Court of Philadelphia is the latest to hand down a decision saying that chronic alcoholics are victims of a disease and therefore should be wards of public health agencies rather than law-enforcement authorities.

Said the court, "The victim serves his time, sobers up in jail, but goes out the same man as he entered. He returns to the same environment, is vulnerable to the same stresses, and becomes a public charge over and over again—at the expense of the public. He is a man with a psychological problem, seeking escape in his drunken oblivion."

The U.S. Supreme Court has held unconstitutional a California statute making it a criminal offense to be a drug addict. Drug addiction is an illness, said the court. Surely this enlightened attitude should be expanded to include the alcoholic.

We have found the funds and the compassion to clean up and reform our prisons, our mental institutions—and now our drug laws, although to a lesser extent. The same consideration is due the alcoholic, who lives in a foggy world, shutting out family and happiness because of a compulsion for drink beyond his control.

DREW PEARSON
Westmoreland's Private Talk With LBJ;
President Creating New TV Personality

WASHINGTON — In the privacy of President Johnson's oval office, Gen. William Westmoreland, the square-jawed Vietnam commander, declared bluntly that the 525,000 troop total promised for 1968 won't be enough to regain the offensive in South Vietnam.

The President cordially explained that no more troops could be spared without calling up reserves or increasing the draft. He made it clear that he had no intention of ordering this sort of national mobilization as long as our present forces could keep the Viet Cong from overrunning South Vietnam.

Westmoreland explained that the communists still retain the initiative in battle. Earlier this year, they compelled him to withdraw troops from the central section to reinforce the Marines in the North. Now the Viet Cong are bringing pressure, he said, upon this Central II Corps area.

Every available combat unit, he reported, has its hands full. This leaves him with no strength, he said, to mount his own offensives and take the initiative away from the communists.

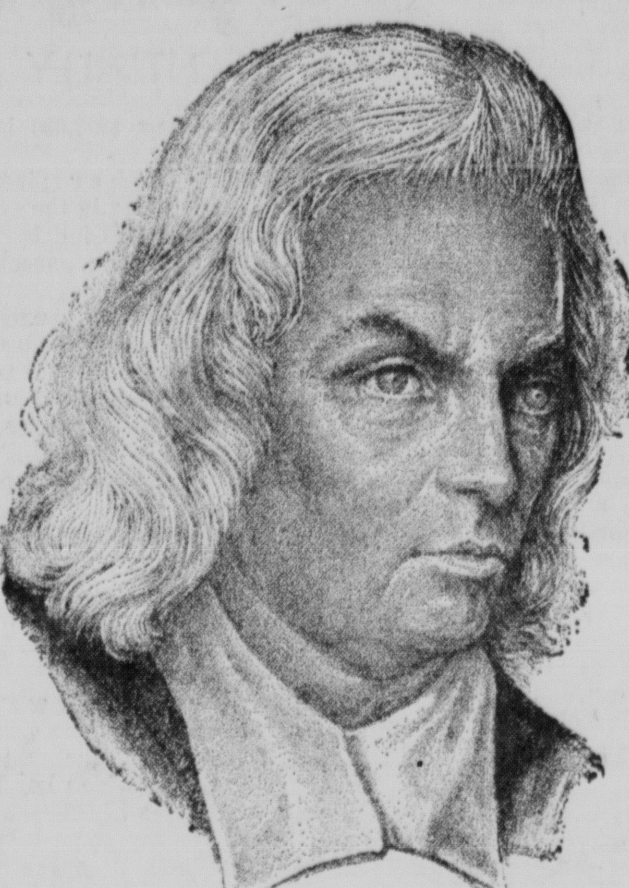

The President directed

Westmoreland to continue holding his positions and to concentrate on training South Vietnamese troops to take over the combat missions. Our objective, said LBJ, should be to build up a South Vietnamese army that will be capable of taking over the defense of the country.

The general reported that 15 South Vietnamese battalions are now ready for combat and will be tested under fire alongside American troops. Meanwhile, other South Vietnamese units are undergoing intensive training. They might be able to relieve a few American troops in another two years, he agreed, provided that the scale of warfare remains the same.

GEORGE RUMPF

Profiles In Science

George Rumpf, or Rumphius as he is known in the Latin that is the language of botanical and zoological descriptions, was one of the most important naturalists who ever lived. More than anyone else, he is responsible for making the plants and animals of the Dutch East Indies known to the rest of the world.

Those Dutch colonies are now independent nations, most of them combined in Indonesia, but the books Rumpf published are still important sources of knowledge about the islands of Amboina, Java, Sumatra and smaller islands that belonged to the Portuguese.

Rumpf was born in Germany in 1627 and little is known about his family or circumstances. It is known, however, that he was Dutch, not German, and that his father was probably a religious refugee from Holland. When Rumpf was grown he returned to Holland and joined the famous Dutch East India Co. as a soldier.

After a period as a prisoner of the Portuguese, Rumpf got to the East Indies and became fascinated by the language of the people there—a language most of the Dutchmen who had gone before him had never bothered even to try to learn.

To Europe the books he later published opened the new strange world of the oriental islands and probably did more than any other circumstance to put the mark of Europe on the East, especially that of Holland. Even though Indonesia is independent now some of its culture inheritances from the Dutch still remain.

Rumpf described many plants and animals for the first time, and of many others that had already been described by botanists and zoologists he gave a more detailed and correct description.

He described the strange robber crab that climbs coconut trees and harvests the coconuts to eat them later on the ground in peace and quiet. He discovered a strange plant with large tubers honeycombed with passages and in which whole colonies of ants made their home.

Rumpf also discovered the pitcher plant and the pearly nautilus, one of two kinds of octopuses that carry an external shell around with them. He also described coral plants that were not discovered for another 150 years.

Most of this natural history was published with superb illustrations in his "Herbarium," of which only the first volume was published before Rumpf's death in 1702. He became famous only after death, when the rest of the volumes appeared between 1741 and 1746.

Protection By Court
Lincoln, Neb.

In regard to the letter lambasting some of the recent Supreme Court decisions, I believe that if we stop and reflect a little, we will realize that the real criminal elements, so often spoken of, already know their rights and will not talk without their lawyers. So the real criminal elements are not affected by the decision, actually. Rather, it is the poor innocent slob picked up by the police and scared to death, whom the Supreme Court is protecting.

If you think it doesn't cost money to get a lawyer to talk for him, you should try hiring one some day.

It doesn't necessarily follow that you are guilty because you have been hauled in by the police. Yet trying to go into municipal court without a lawyer and see how far you get. It is like putting a high school boy in the ring with Cassius Clay. The city attorney knows all the angles and you are told when you can speak and practically what you can or cannot say.

On anything other than a minor traffic violation, there are usually two policemen to back up their story. Of course they are trying for a conviction. Their stories are sometimes colored, but who do the judges listen to? How does the average guy know how to question the policeman on the stand as compared to the prosecuting attorney who has all the cut-and-dried answers to get the results he wants?

So I say, the Supreme Court is protecting the poor and innocent, not the criminal elements, for they talk through their attorneys, anyway.

I believe that if our lower courts would mete out more justice, rather than striving for convictions, regardless of actual circumstances, there would be no need for these Supreme Court rulings.

During this season of Veterans Day and Thanksgiving activities, we express the thanks of the Veterans Hospital staff, volunteers and patients for the outstanding cooperation of The Star day after day, year after year. It does indeed add significance and dignity to our activities based on service.

Factual reporting contributes to the knowledge and availability of services to veterans and their dependents and human interest stories increase the possibilities of understanding among all groups interested in all phases of veterans' activities.

A lot of people in and out of government have been wondering what induced Lyndon Johnson to do what his advisers have long urged him to do — be his natural self in press conferences.

For four years Johnson's staff have told him to talk to the public the same way he talks to senators or close friends. When the President got up behind the lectern facing the klieg lights and the TV cameras, however, he froze.

On the other hand, an experienced actor such as Ronald Reagan, who has used TV for General Electric for years, came off as Captain Nice and Mr. Clean.

The change last week was partly because LBJ was given a neck microphone so he could move about instead of staying rooted behind the lectern. But that wasn't the only factor. In addition, the President saw his polls dropping to 26, the lowest point of any president; so, with his back to the political wall, he figured he had better put some oomph in his personal appearances.

Joan Baez
Lincoln, Neb.

I wish to compliment Don Walton on his piece about Joan Baez in last Monday's Star. His sympathetic and understanding article stood in marked contrast to a letter to the editor from the Elks Lodge in York, appearing on the same page.

The York Elks pretty obviously did not bother to find out what Miss Baez views are before they passed a resolution condemning them, for they misrepresented those views. They thus put themselves among the people of whom Mr. Walton wrote, "And when Joan Baez preaches non-violence, her detractors reply with venom."

It is as if they were against her as soon as they heard she was in favor of peace.

Special Session Not Before January-Tiemann

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann said Friday that January is the "earliest practical time" for the call of the Legislature into special session to reapportion the congressional districts.

The governor and the Legislative Council's executive committee will begin mapping plans on Dec. 6.

Tiemann said he thinks congressional reapportionment, meeting federal court guidelines, could be accomplished by transferring from Rep. Robert Denny's first district about 20,000 population into Rep. Glenn Cunningham's second district and 30,000 population into Rep. Dave Martin's third district.

But, the governor said he "is not prepared to say which counties would be involved."

Tiemann told a news conference he hopes a reapportionment plan can be jointly worked out between the Legislature's leaders and the governor's office, but "undoubtedly some individual senators will propose plans."

Tiemann said a reapportionment plan, using county lines, could narrow population variance to three to five per cent between the largest and smallest district as compared with the present 19%.

The three-judge federal panel, in ordering reapportionment or at-large elections, suggested a variance of as little as one per cent is possible.

Tiemann said University of Nebraska Business Research Bureau's 1966 population figures for the state "appear to be the most accurate and up-to-date," but any other available studies will be considered.

Minimum Changes

He expressed hope the reapportionment could be done "with a minimum reshuffling of counties."

The governor also: —announced the appointment of Wesley Hansen of North Platte as the Class I school districts representative on the State Educational Television Commission, replacing Robert Minnick of Alliance.

—introduced Miss Patrice Herboldsheimer of Potter as the 1968 Nebraska Wheat Queen.

—said he will make "courtesy calls" to Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and Mayor John Lindsay while in New York next week to meet with industrial leaders there for promotion of Nebraska's industrial development.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Famous Teacher Too Busy To Think Of Age

By ROBERT PETERSON

It's great to hear of elders so absorbed in their work that they don't think of age. Take the renowned French piano teacher, Nadia Boulanger. When she reached 80 a few weeks ago she was quoted as saying, "I never think of age. I've no time. I work."

When a reporter asked if she planned to retire, she eyed him darkly and said, "I don't know what the word means. As long as there is life and reasonable health one must work to be content. It would be death to do nothing."

Her philosophy is in marked contrast to that of many older people. Retired from all purposeful work and embarked on a sea of leisure, many elders lack goals and objectives to be fulfilled. With endless time to think about themselves, their minds run along darkening channels and soon are magnifying aches and pains. Pension and Social Security checks seem skimpy. People appear less friendly. And loneliness becomes more unbearable.

If we could only get elders everywhere absorbed in purposeful activities, much of the discontent currently plaguing the geriatric set would fly out the window.

The most widely quoted line in geriatrics seems to be the one that goes, "Grow old along with me, the best is yet to be." Literally hundreds of speakers on the subject of aging have popped this couplet into their opening declaration, or attempted to bring their remarks to a dramatic close with a tremulous reading of that immortal declaration.

The line, from Robert Browning's classic poem, "Rabbi Ben Ezra," struck me as beautiful and inspiring the first hundred times

I heard it. But after encountering it frequently for years — at conferences, in magazines and newspaper articles, and on radio and television — I'd like to see it suitably interred for a nice, long rest until its freshness has been regenerated for contemplation by the next generation.

If you would like the booklet, "20 Most Popular Retirement Hobbies," write to Robert Peterson, "Life Begins at Forty," c/o The Lincoln Star, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

Labor Party Suffers Defeat In Post-Devaluation Election

By New York Times Service

London — The Labor Party suffered a severe defeat Friday in the first by-election since the pound was devalued.

The Conservatives held Derbyshire West, a seat they had won before, with a sharply increased majority. Labor dropped to third place, below the usual also-rans, the Liberals.

The total vote in the district was down from the general election, in March, 1966, but most of the loss was in the Labor column. These were the figures compared:

	1966	Friday
Conservative	18,383	16,319
Labor	13,791	5,284
Liberal	4,874	5,896
Other	0	1,496

"Devalued!" was the headline on the story in Friday night's Evening Standard.

Interpretation

The result will undoubtedly be seen as reflecting public disillusion about the Labor government's decision to devalue the pound last weekend after three painful years of resisting the step.

Labor's majority in the House of Commons stands at 83 after the defeat in Derbyshire. That is ample to continue governing for years ahead — if the Labor Party remains united behind Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

The danger to Wilson is that results like this one may terrorize his rank-and-file and could even make it think of changing the party leadership.

Modern Record

Friday's result was the latest in a series of electoral setbacks for the government. Since the 1966 election it has had to defend nine Labor seats in by-elections and has lost six — a record without parallel in modern times.

Four more seats in the House are vacant, three of them formerly held by Labor and all vulnerable. The government can and doubtless will delay the by-elections for weeks or even months.

Wilson is giving top priority to holding his party together. To satisfy the left when he devalued last Saturday night, he raised the corporation tax and promised special measures to help the poor.

There is a sign or two that Wilson, normally unflappable, is feeling the nervous pressure of the last few weeks of financial crisis.

Omaha Bridge Apparently Headed For Demolition

By Associated Press

Unless the city of Omaha petitions the Nebraska Department of Roads before next Tuesday to take over the Ak-Sar-Ben Missouri River bridge at Omaha, the structure is headed for demolition, a Nebraska Department of Roads spokesman said Friday.

By letter dated July 27, the department offered the bridge to Omaha, and law provides four months for a response. The four-month period ends Monday.

On the assumption that no request for the bridge will be received, the Nebraska Highway Department already is at work drafting an agreement between Iowa and Nebraska to demolish the structure.

The bids probably will be taken early next year, most likely in February, so the channel can be cleared by the start of the navigation season, the spokesman said.

Iowa has asked that Nebraska handle the demolition bid letting but Iowa will pay its percentage share of the costs.

Army engineers already have specified some of the requirements to be met in the demolition.

The engineers have advised that two bridge piers set in water will have to be cut off to a point 12 feet below the low water level so as not to interfere with navigation.

Six piers on dry ground — one on the Nebraska side and five on the Iowa side — will need to be cut off to three feet below the present ground level.

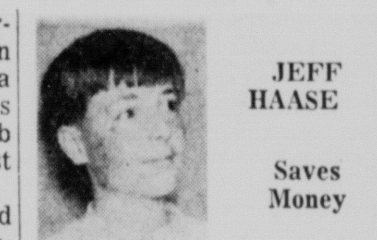

The Nebraska Highway Advisory Commission held hearings on the future of the Ak-Sar-Ben bridge before the department's formal notice to the city of Omaha was sent last July. Some witnesses at the time asked that the Iowa and Nebraska highway departments continue to maintain the bridge.

Meet Star Carrier Jeff Haase

Jeff Haase has been a carrier salesman for The Lincoln Star for what he terms a "very long time" but he is as enthusiastic about his job now as he was on the first day.

Jeff is especially pleased that he is able to save money for his future education and also enjoys having his own spending money.

A student at Millard Lefage, Jeff is planning on a college career but hasn't decided on a definite field of study yet.

Besides being an outstanding paperboy, the young Lincolnite has also proved his talent for music. He plays the trumpet in his school's dance band and is also learning to play the guitar.

Sports also play a role in Jeff's life, he plays both basketball and football and enjoys watching baseball games.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Haase, feel that having a paper route has been great for their son and recommend it highly for all young men.

Bible Education Program Opens

Jehovah's Witnesses from western Iowa and eastern Nebraska opened a three-day Bible educational program at Lincoln High School Friday.

A group ordination service will be conducted Saturday afternoon. The highlight of the assembly will be a public Bible lecture on Sunday afternoon.

The assembly is one of a continuing series of semi-annual conventions of Jehovah's Witnesses.

City Park Crews Train Weekly In 'Work-Improving' Classes

City park department crews are spending an hour a week of city time — and part of their own — on a series of work-improving classes conducted by City Forester Emilio Fontana.

The main object of the 1½-hour weekly sessions, says Fontana, "is to improve the skill of our employees by giving them a more professional knowledge of the forestry program."

All employees of the forestry division are receiving training in the proper methods of handling chemicals, fertilizing, landscaping, planting and the professional touch used in handling small trees and shrubs.

"We emphasize the safety rules involved in each skill or procedure," Fontana said.

He said the one hour a week his men are away from their regular chores "is worth it to the city, because the city will benefit from higher skill levels."

City Personnel Director Walter Mitchell, Park and Recreation Director James Ager and Parks Superintendent Don Smith agree that the classroom technique is an asset, Fontana commented.

Smith said he hopes to send employees in his park districts, other than the forestry crews, through Fontana's classes. "The men are enthusiastic about the class and glad to give some of their free time

(the other one-half hour a week)," Fontana said. "I can already see a response in the way they are working — the work is much better." "We'll always be doing something like this. This type of program will help our people better their skills," he noted. Fontana has been landscape architect and forester for the city since March, replacing Don Guinan, who resigned in 1966.

Legion Defends Gen. Hershey's Action On Draft

Omaha—The national commander of the American Legion, William E. Galbraith of Beemer, vigorously defended here Friday the recent action taken by General Lewis B. Hershey, calling for prompt and effective prosecution of persons who violate or who attempt to interfere with the administration of the Military Selective Service Act.

Commander Galbraith commented that certain persons, even some members of the Congress have "lost sight of the fact that General Hershey, with over 50 years of dedicated patriotic service to his country, is far better qualified than any other individual to understand and regulate the current draft system of the United States."

And added further: "The action taken recently by General Hershey to bolster proper means of punishment of those who would defy the regulations of the Military Selective Service Act has the full support of the American Legion."

Commander Galbraith also stated that he and the American Legion, "feel that General Hershey should be given commendation for his sincere efforts to maintain the status quo, of our national need for military man-power."

Moscow (AP) — Pravda demanded that factories throughout the Soviet Union join the growing campaign to turn out useful and attractive consumer goods.

State To Open Bids On Part Of Interstate

The Department of Roads announced Friday it will open bids Dec. 21 for construction in Omaha of a three-block section of Interstate highway from 17th to 20th St. between Cass St. and Capitol Ave.

Estimated cost of the project is $1,550,000 of which $1,395,000 would come from federal funds, the department said.

Grading, pavement, culverts, sodding, two bridges and guard rails are included in the estimated figures.

The department will open bids Dec. 14 on an eight-tenths of a mile street project on Jeffers and Dewey Sts. in North Platte and construction of a bridge on Norfolk Ave. east of Norfolk.

The department estimated cost of the two projects at $460,000 with $125,000 coming from federal aid urban funds.

The North Platte project includes grading, concrete pavement, culverts, lighting and asphaltic concrete surface course.

Lincolnite's Son Killed In Action In So. Vietnam

The 18-year-old son of a Lincoln man was killed Wednesday in South Vietnam, it was announced here Friday.

Spec. 4 Thomas Barry Allen, son of Thomas M. Allen of 4100 Lewis Ave., died Wednesday during battle action in Vietnam.

Grant Soldier Meets Death

Grant (UPI) — Army Sgt. Kent Bahnsen, 20, of Grant was killed in Vietnam Tuesday, the Defense Department reported Friday.

Bahnsen, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bahnsen of Grant, had served in Vietnam since June. He was a 1965 graduate of Perkins County High School here.

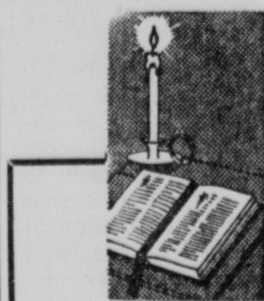

Besides his parents, survivors include two brothers and three sisters.

Services are pending.

Youth Clean Up

Bangkok (AP) — Thailand has armed 25,000 Boy Scouts with buckets and scrub brushes and sent them out to clean up Bangkok's national monuments. It's all part of a national cleanliness campaign. Girl Guides and Brownies have been assigned to clean school buildings.

Door Shut On Officer

... NAVY CHIEF NIXES COURT OF INQUIRY

New York Times Service

Washington — The Navy closed what appeared to be the final hour Friday on the bizarre and controversial case of Lt. Cmdr. Marcus Aurelius Arnheiter.

Arnheiter was summarily relieved of command of a warship off the coast of Vietnam in 1966 after a series of complaints from his officers and crew. He was later judged unfit for "further assignment to command."

In a one-paragraph statement, Navy Secretary Paul R. Ignatius said the case had been thoroughly reviewed at the highest levels of the Navy Department and that no further inquiry appeared necessary.

Arnheiter had pleaded for a full-dress court of inquiry to review the case.

"The secretary of Navy decided today, after very careful personal consideration, that further inquiry into the case of Lt. Cmdr. Arnheiter is not warranted. He has concluded that on the basis of the entire record there is no valid reason for altering the decision that Lt. Cmdr. Arnheiter's further assignment to command would be inappropriate. This decision has been imparted to Lt. Cmdr. Arnheiter."

Arnheiter is now stationed in San Francisco in a plans and operations post with Headquarters Western Sea Frontier.

The ruling will not cost him his rank although it will bar him from any further command posts at sea and may damage his chances for promotion. He has been passed over for promotion to commander twice since being relieved of command.

Arnheiter's case had become a cause celebre in Navy circles. The fired officer himself had bombarded the Pentagon with letters, demands for interviews and appeals for new inquiries into the case.

Sammy Davis, Mai Britt Tell Of Separating

Las Vegas, Nev. (UPI) — Sammy Davis Jr. and his Swedish-born wife Mai Britt announced Friday they had agreed to a trial separation, following by two days the breakup of his friend Frank Sinatra's marriage.

The 40-year-old Negro entertainer said it was his wife's suggestion that they separate until they are able to settle their domestic troubles.

"Mai's decision came as a big blow to me," Davis said at the Sands Hotel where he is currently appearing. Miss Britt remained at the family home in the Hollywood Hills.

The interracial marriage was the first in Hollywood involving a top flight star. Miss Britt, whose real name is Maibritt Wilkens, gave up her career immediately after the marriage.

They are the parents of a daughter, Tracey, 6, and adopted sons, Mark, 7, and Jeff, 3.

MCCARTHY TO REVEAL INTENTION

Washington (UPI) — The office of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy D-Minn., said Friday that the senator will make a decision next week whether he will oppose President Lyndon Johnson for the Democratic presidential nomination.

When asked about a report in Friday's St. Louis Post-Dispatch that McCarthy will announce next Thursday his intentions to challenge Johnson, a spokesman said "that is one of the possibilities."

He said, however, that it may not be next Thursday but "the senator will announce his decision whether or not to run sometime next week."

The newspaper said McCarthy has $2 million in campaign funds "in sight."

Communists Call For World Meet

Moscow (P) — Eighteen national Communist parties led by the Soviet Union called Friday night for a meeting in Budapest next February to plan a world Communist summit conference.

Communist sources estimated that some 70 of the 88 Communist and allied parties in the world might turn out for the Budapest meeting. The goal would be a summit conference by the end of 1968.

Omaha Youth Elected 'Governor' At YMCA Meet

Pete Horacek, a 17-year-old high school senior from Omaha, was elected honorary governor of Nebraska Friday in the YMCA's annual Youth in Government program at the State Capitol.

Laurel Marsh, 18, of Norfolk was named lieutenant governor, and Don Riggs, 17, of McCook was elected speaker of the mock Legislature.

The event has been sponsored for the past 17 years by the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-YMCA to acquaint young Nebraska with state government operations.

Some 250 high school students from over the state are attending the two-day event which ends Saturday.

The teenage Legislature, during its opening session, killed a resolution calling upon the federal government to make it a crime of treason for any citizen to interfere with the U.S. armed services induction program or "any other official activities necessary for the defense of the country."

It's sponsors had termed the

Lawbreakers Hit By Meat Institute

Washington (P) — The American Meat Institute said Friday its primary objective is to defend the U.S. consumer of receiving the finest and most wholesome meat and meat products in the world.

"We do not condone or defend any commercial meat slaughterer or processor who deliberately violates any law, whether federal, state, county or municipal, pertaining to wholesomeness or sanitary handling of meat products," it said.

resolution "necessary" because the United States is presently in a state of war with the Republic of North Vietnam.

However, the young legislators advanced two bills calling for mandatory driver education and requiring written and driving tests when renewing drivers licenses.

Also advanced was a bill requiring the consent of the electorate of any incorporated village before annexation by the City of Omaha.

Also pending before the body are measures providing for interscholastic athletics for girls, junior advisory juries for minors who have committed misdemeanors, providing for a partisan Legislature, and liberalizing abortion laws.

The mock legislature killed a number of bills in committee, including annual sessions for the legislature, abolishment of capital punishment, compensation for victims of crimes, and stop signs at every railroad crossing.

Don Newcombe, former

Brooklyn Dodgers pitcher, was the guest speaker at the event's Friday evening banquet.

Court Orders OK Of Extension Service Budget

By United Press International
The Gage County Board was ordered by the State Supreme Court Friday to approve the County Agricultural Extension Service's 1966-67 budget of $11,100.

The decision reversed a Gage County District Court ruling by Judge Joseph Ach of Friend.

The county board had refused to endorse the budget on the ground it was too high. The extension service argued the board had no statutory authority to cut the request.

The Supreme Court agreed with the extension service.

"The county board is required to set aside in the general fund of the county an amount equal to the county extension budget," said Chief Justice Paul W. White for a unanimous tribunal.

"No authority is granted to reduce, alter, or amend the county extension budget."

Furthermore, the court said, a 1943 state law granted the extension service specific power to demand an appropriation from the county general fund so long as the budget request does not exceed four-tenths of a property tax mill.

"It was the obvious intent of the Legislature to place the limitation on the mill levy in the law itself and not vest it in the county board under its general budget making powers," Justice White wrote.

"The Agricultural Extension Service, in order to properly administer its function, has the right and duty to compel the appropriation and the honoring of its approved claims. The act required by the county board is clearly ministerial in nature and it is mandatory that it performs it."

In other rulings Friday, the court:

—In a 4-3 decision, reversed a Douglas County District Court personal injury award to Fred Kozloski and ordered his lawsuit dismissed.

Kozloski filed the action against the Modern Litho, Inc., of 1612 California St. in Omaha nearly four years ago for injuries allegedly suffered when he slipped and fell on a batch of ice near the front door of a business establishment owned by the defendant.

The Supreme Court majority said the accident, which occurred Jan. 16, 1964, could not be blamed on Modern Litho just because it owned the building.

If this were the case, considering Nebraska's changeable winter weather, "a landlord who failed to thoroughly inspect his premises for ice each and every winter morning, regardless of any unusual circumstances, in the event of an accident, would always be open to a charge of negligence," the majority said.

Dissenting were Chief Justice White and Associate Justices Hale McCown and Leslie Boulough.

—Overturned a Sarpy County District Court decree rejecting an appeal from a county court order dismissing William F. Sass as the administrator of his deceased brother's estate.

—Sustained the Douglas County District Court burglary conviction of Robert Eugene Whited.

—Affirmed the Lancaster County District Court habitual criminal conviction of Harold Eugene Huffman.

—Said the Garfield County District Court was correct when it dismissed Emma Radi's appeal from the award of the appraisers in a condemnation proceeding. The decision was in favor of the State Roads Department.

—Rejected the request of Kenneth F. Carreau, a State Penitentiary inmate, for a new hearing on his habitual criminal and uttering a forged instrument convictions.

—Upheld the Lancaster County District Court order setting aside a jury verdict against Jewel A. Houpp, who was charged with stealing a grain semi-trailer truck. The lower court had also ordered a new trial of the case because the jury failed to fix the value of the truck involved.

A Class VI district is a high school district superimposed on two or more Class I (elementary grades only) districts. Class VI schools can include seventh and eighth grades if voters in the district approve.

Sen. Jerome Warner of Warburton said Friday the effect of the attorney general's opinion would appear to be to make Class VI districts eligible for some of the transportation reimbursement provided under the state-aid-to-schools bill passed at the 1967 legislative session as LB448.

Class VI District Responsible For Transportation Costs

Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer held Friday that Class VI junior-senior high school districts must pay for transportation to school of seventh and eighth grade students where no other means of free transportation are provided.

The opinion, written by Assistant Atty. Gen. Harold Mosher, said that grades seven and eight are considered elementary grades even though they are part of a

Unemployment Insurance Tax Reduction Told

Labor Commissioner Tom Doyle reported Friday that employees under the Nebraska Employment Security Law will receive a 25% reduction in unemployment insurance taxes next year.

The reduction, first since 1953, represents about a $2 million saving, Doyle said.

He said the average employer's tax rate for 1968 will be seven-tenths of one percent, less than half the national average. The cutback has been managed despite the fact the 1967 Legislature increased claimants' maximum weekly check from $40 to $44, he noted.

MRS. J. LEE KREADER

MRS. JOHN HERHAHN

MRS. DEL BOKOWSKI

Brides Of Late November

Clusters of lighted white candles and all-white blossoms appointed the chancel of St. Teresa's Church, Friday afternoon, Nov. 24, for the 4 o'clock wedding of Miss Barbara Anne Barlow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Barlow, and J. Lee Kreader, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Kreader of Tucson, Ariz. The service was solemnized by Msgr. M. M. Kaczmarek and the Rev. Donald L. Duly.

Frocked in moss green velvet were Miss Mary Kay Tyler, the maid of honor; the bridesmaids, Miss Jan Rizner, Chicago; Miss Jill Horner, Los Angeles; Mrs. Robert Spindler, Denver; and Miss Nancy Jane Sample, Scottsbluff; and the junior bridesmaid, Miss Monica McNish, Sidney.

Serving Mr. Kreader as best man was A. J. Cook, and the groomsmen were Thomas Dyke, Stow, Ohio; David Rhody, Haddonfield, N.J.; David Twining, Wooster, Ohio; and Gerald Townsend, Williamtown, W.Va.

Re-embroidered Alencon lace smoothed over peau de soie in traditional white fashioned the bride's skimmer gown. The slender lines of the gown were accented by above-the-elbow bell sleeves and a modified squared neckline, and her train-length veil of illusion was held by a pillbox cap of lace.

Mr. and Mrs. Kreader will reside in Philadelphia, where the bridegroom, who received his degree from the College of Wooster, Wooster, Ohio, is a graduate student at the University of Pennsylvania. Mrs. Kreader, a graduate of Loretto Heights College, Denver, is teaching in the Philadelphia Schools.

For the Friday afternoon, Nov. 24, wedding of Miss Nancy Best, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert P. Best of Holdrege, and John Herhahn, son of Mrs. Frank T. Herhahn of Scottsbluff, and the late Dr. Herhahn, topiary trees of gold-trimmed white chrysanthemums formed the chancel decor in the First Presbyterian Church of Holdrege. The Rev. Ronald Buskirk read the lines of the 4 o'clock service.

Mrs. James R. McCormick of York, as her sister's honor attendant, and the bridesmaid, Miss Sue Stewart of Denver, appeared in floor-length frocks of gold serge.

Serving Mr. Herhahn as best man was William Reichenburg of Denver, and seating the guests were Dr. Frank T. Herhahn, brother of the bridegroom, and Al Williams, Scottsbluff; Louis Titus, Holdrege; and James R. McCormick, York.

Medallions of Venise lace trimmed the bride's gown of silk serge in antique white. The lace encircled the Empire waist of the basque, which was designed with a rounding neckline and elbow sleeves touched with lace, and the applique trim was repeated at the hem of the slim skirt and on the panel train which extended to cotillion length. A pillbox cap of Venise lace held to the head her illusion veil.

Both graduates of the University of Nebraska, Mr. and Mrs. Herhahn will live in Denver. The bride is a member of Delta Gamma sorority and has been a graduate student at Colorado State University.

The marriage of Miss Elaine Gayle Carr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Carr, to Del Bokowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Springer of Hooper, was solemnized Friday evening, Nov. 24, at Epworth Methodist Church. Altar bouquets of white chrysanthemums formed the background for the 8 o'clock service, which was read by the Rev. Ralph P. Rasmussen.

Alike, floor-length frocks of silk crepe were worn by Mrs. James Andraschko of Lindstrom, Minn., the matron of honor, in pale blue; Miss Anita Ann Johnson, the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Kathy Pliefke, Osceola, and Miss Virgie Lueders, in deep turquoise.

David Greenfield of Fremont, served as best man, and the corps of ushers included John Snover, Don Snover and Kenneth Thernes, Hooper; Doug Carr, Grand Island; James Andraschko, Lindstrom, Minn.; Rod Cantin, Jefferson, S.D.; and Terry Bokowski, Fremont, brother of the bridegroom.

The bride's gown of white silk taffeta was patterned with re-embroidered Alencon lace. A crescent neckline contoured the long-sleeved bodice, and the slim lines of the lace-trimmed skirt were emphasized by a court train continuing to cotillion length. Her illusion veil was held by a petal cap of lace and pearls.

Mr. Bokowski and his bride will live in Norfolk, where the bridegroom is a student at Norfolk Junior College. Mrs. Bokowski is a former student at the University of Nebraska.

Attendants Named

Announcing the members of her bridal party this morning is Miss Carolyn Petty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Petty, who will become the bride of George L. Duranske, Jr., on Saturday, Dec. 16.

For the ceremony, which will be solemnized at 8 o'clock in the evening, in the chapel of St. Paul Methodist Church, Miss Petty has named Mrs. Lee Turner as her matron of honor, and her maid of honor will be Miss Mary Louise Rawie of Crawford. Miss Karen Fritsche of Cleveland, Ohio, will attend her cousin as bridesmaid, and the flower girl will be Miss Karen Lueders.

Richard Sherman will serve Mr. Duranske as best man, and the corps of ushers will include William Staley of Omaha; Dale Petty, brother of the bride-elect, Gilbert Lundstrom and William Tharnish. Miss Petty's brother, David Petty, will be ringbearer.

Saturday afternoon, Nov. 25, the soon-to-be bride will be honored at a shower to be held at the home of Mrs. James McKelvey. Co-hostesses for the mother-daughter party will be Mrs. Axel Bolesen and Mrs. Robert Cooker of Silver Creek.

Miss Petty and her fiancé will share honors on Friday evening, Dec. 15, when Mr. Duranske's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Du-ranske, will be host and hostess at a rehearsal dinner to be held at the Black Coach Inn.

Also entertaining in courtesy to Miss Petty and her fiancé last Sunday evening were the members of the family who surprised the couple at a dinner held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Minzel.

Also revealing plans this morning for a Saturday, Dec. 16, wedding is Miss Lynne Hamilton, daughter of Col. Herbert O. Hamilton (Ret.) and Mrs. Hamilton.

The University of Nebraska coed will become the bride of Donald Lewis Vodra, son of Mr. and Mrs. Challis L. Vodra, at an afternoon ceremony, to be solemnized at St. Mathew's Church, Episcopal.

Miss Susan Braine of Minneapolis, Minn., will attend her cousin as maid of honor for the 1:30 o'clock service, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Hamilton's sisters, Miss Diane Hamilton and Miss Sally Hamilton; Miss Karen Clark and Miss Patricia Murray.

Max Corey will serve Mr. Vodra as best man.

Entertaining in pre-nuptial last Wednesday evening, Miss Patricia Murray and Miss Karen Clark were hostesses at a personal shower.

Eastridge
Meadow Lane
Hollywood Heights
Northeast Heights

There are a good many people in suburbia today who are still getting some good eating from the remains of Thursday's turkey. Somehow, one of the best parts of Thanksgiving seems to be the cold turkey sandwiches enjoyed during the following days.

For Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Jenkins, Thursday was a disappointing day for football but an enjoyable one as far as their game companions and dinner guests were concerned.

Joining Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins for the game and Thanksgiving dinner were Mrs. Jenkins' brother and sister-in-law, Col. and Mrs. Robert Hemphill, residents of Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

Another Eastridge family that had company for Thanksgiving is that of Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Lewis. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis and daughters, Barbara and Patty, welcomed Mr. Lewis' mother, Mrs. Irene Lewis of Thermopolis, Wyo., for Thanksgiving and a stay of a week or two.

Home for the Thanksgiving vacation is Miss Nancy Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Evans. Nancy is a student at Hastings College.

Joining Mr. and Mrs. Evans and Nancy on Thanksgiving Day were Mrs. Evans' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kuchera, Fremont, and tomorrow, more visitors are expected — Mr. and Mrs. Evans' son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Evans and son Mike, who are making the trip from Carroll, Iowa.

Moving to the Meadow Lane area, we have news of the Thanksgiving guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Lively.

Their visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Willis Robinson, of Kearney.

There was one family in Hollywood Heights with quite a bit to celebrate on Thanksgiving, aside from the holiday itself.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Anderson and their family — Jean, John, Jerry, Jeff, Jewell, and James — had guests for Thanksgiving from Kansas. The "guests of honor" were Mrs. Anderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Feldkamp of Seneca, Kan., who were celebrating their thirty-sixth wedding anniversary.

Other members of the family gathering

suburbia

at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were Mr. and Mrs. Jay Glynn and family, of Axtell, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Gary Feldkamp, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Feldkamp and their family, all of Seneca, Kan.

In addition to the anniversary good wishes for Mr. and Mrs. Feldkamp, there were congratulations for Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, who will celebrate their fifteenth anniversary on Nov. 29.

Northeast Heights residents Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dampke, Kevin and Lynne, were busy both Wednesday and Thursday.

On Thanksgiving Day, they were the guests of Mrs. Dampke's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Phillips, Lorri, Scott, and Randy. Another guest for Mr. and Mrs. Phillips was the mother of Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Dampke, Mrs. Irene Mc-Masters.

On Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Dampke had helped Mr. and Mrs. Phillips celebrated their wedding anniversary.

Wedding Plans

Naming her bridal attendants this morning is Miss Lynn Shriner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don H. Shriner, whose marriage to Steve Kosman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Kosman, will be an event of Saturday, Dec. 16.

For the wedding, which will take place at 4 o'clock at the First Presbyterian Church, Miss Shriner has named Mrs. Douglas Campbell of Colorado Springs, Colo., as her matron of honor. Her sister, Miss Carol Shriner, will be the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Pat Shriner, also a sister of the bride-to-be, and Miss Jody Nickell of Noel, Mo. Miss Amy Smith of Sioux City, Iowa, will be the junior bridesmaid.

Robert Schmidt will serve Mr. Kosman as best man, and the ushers will be Mr. Kosman's cousin, Henry Kosman of Scottsbluff, Harry Seward and Paul Schlaphoff. Miss Shriner's brother, Mike Shriner, will be the junior groomsman, and her brother, Andrew Shriner, will light the chancel candles for the ceremony.

The bride-elect and her fiancé are both students at the University of Nebraska.

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: My husband (Arnie) and I both work. Arnie drives 35 miles round trip to work every day, and I drive 30, in the opposite direction. Well, Arnie got one too many moving violations and he had his driver's license suspended for a year, so now I have to drive him to work and back every day. It keeps me on the run because we have children at home, but I am not complaining. Here's the problem:

Arnie has come up with the idea of staying with one of the guys he works with. This co-worker (I'll call him Sammy) is divorced and swings pretty good, and there are always these cute single girls hanging around Sammy's apartment. I know my husband, and he wouldn't just sit around and twiddle his thumbs. Arnie says he doesn't want me to get worn out driving him, but if I'm not complaining, why should he? Should I stick to my decision or not?

ARNIE'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Stick to your decision. Tell Arnie you have had enough of his moving violations, without asking for other kinds. And if anyone is gonna get worn out, it will be you. Driving!

Sorority Meeting

Guests of the Nebraska Alpha Chapter of Delta Theta Chi national cultural and philanthropic sorority, at the group's November meeting were Miss Darlene Kovanda, Mrs. Gelbert Kramer and Mrs. Joseph P. O'Gara.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Don Baird, and a program on wigs was presented.

News Around Town

Maybe there has been time to catch your breath after Thursday's exciting game, but don't count on relaxing for too long. It's an impossibility. The holiday season is approaching at a rapid rate of speed.

Before we delve into the December parties various of the dancing clubs are having, however, we want to mention a guest.

Arriving in time for Thanksgiving, and planning to remain through the Christmas festivities, was Mrs. Ed Lawrie of Portland, Ore., formerly of Lincoln, who is the house guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lawrie.

Needless to say there will be numerous courtesies for Mrs. Lawrie during her stay. As a matter of fact they began yesterday when Mrs. Glenn Baldwin entertained at luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club. Following the luncheon the afternoon was devoted to bridge.

It may be a little difficult to believe that Christmas month begins next Friday—but it's true.

And opening the winter social season in a spectacular way will be the members of the Lincoln Symphony Guild who are planning another Headdress Ball. The event is to be held next Saturday evening at Hotel Lincoln.

Also dining and dancing on Friday evening—and also at Hotel Lincoln, will be the members of the Mr. and Mrs. Dance Club—And we'll tell you more about December's fun events another day.

Friday Ceremony

For the wedding of Miss Susan Foreman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Foreman, and James D. Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Crawford of Bennet, which took place on Friday evening, Nov. 24, the chancel of the Bennet Community Church was appointed with yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

Empire frocks of yellow crepe, touched with yellow velvet, were chosen for the attendants including Miss Jan Cheney, the maid of honor; Mrs. Eldon Lindquist of Ravenna, bridesmatron, and bridesmaids Miss Melissa Clements, Miss Melinda Clements and Miss Pam Foreman.

Robert Hunt served as best man. The groomsmen were Dan Foreman, Arnold Wells, both of Lincoln; Dan McCord of Fairmont; and Gary Finke. Seating the guests were William Sturdy of Lincoln, Dennis Reeder and James Martin.

The bride appeared in a gown of matte satin designed in the Empire mode. The long-sleeved bodice was fashioned with a wing neckline, patterned with pearl-embroidered lace, and deep pleats gave accentuated fullness to the long skirt which was completed with a cotillion length train of lace. Her shoulder-length veil was held to the head with a crown of pearls and she carried yellow sweetheart roses on a white Bible.

Bride At Post-Thanksgiving Wedding

Lighted candles and blue-frosted white chrysanthemums formed the background for the wedding of Miss Judith Anne Reckling, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Reckling, and Gary Lee Thomas, son of Mrs. Floyd Johnson of Corning, Iowa, which took place on Friday evening, Nov. 24, at the Havelock Christian and Missionary Alliance Church. The lines of the 7 o'clock ceremony were read by the Rev. Merle Graven, and Mrs. Norman Sundeen played the wedding music. The Rev. Norman Voth was the vocal soloist.

Miss Nannette Reckling, who was her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaids Miss Linda Eyer and Miss Pat Bishop, were frocked alike in royal blue velvet. With their Empire costumes they carried colonial bouquets of yellow roses.

Raymond Thomas of Corning served as best man, and seating the guests were John Hall of Gretna and Larry Spader of Waverly. James Sperry of Des Moines, Iowa, and Eldon Thomas were groomsmen.

A gown of white velvet was chosen by the bride for her wedding. Beneath the long-sleeved Empire bodice, fashioned with a high, oval neckline, the long skirt followed an A-line and was completed with a train. A seed pearl tiara held to the head the veil of illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of Fuji chrysanthemums.

Following a short honeymoon trip Mr. Thomas and his bride will reside in Lincoln.

Chapel Wedding

In the presence of members of the family, the marriage of Miss Ann Hathaway Gove, daughter of Lt. Col. Charles F. Gove (Ret.) and Mrs. Gove of Denton, to James Michel McCord, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. McCord of Fairbury, was solemnized Friday afternoon, Nov. 24, in the chapel of First-Plymouth Congregational Church. The lines of the 3:30 o'clock service were read by Dr. J. Ford Forsyth.

Wearing an afternoon frock of blue wool and a corsage of pink carnations, Miss Mary Kathleen Gove attended her sister as maid of honor.

Doyle Junker served Mr. McCord as best man.

The bride's daytime frock of white wool was designed with bracelet sleeves and a squared neckline edged with lace. She carried a white Bible ornamented with a single gardenia.

Mr. McCord and his bride, both students at the University of Nebraska, will live at 4915 Cleveland. Mrs. McCord is a member of Chi Omega sorority, and the bridegroom is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and the Varsity football team.

Four Basketball Regulars Returning For Pius X

By JOHN HINES
Star Staff Writer

With four returning starters and good depth at guard and forward, the 1967-68 Pius X Thunderbolts should be in a position to lead Lincoln's city prep cage teams this season.

The 'Bolts' young team last winter developed into a good unit in late season, taking three of their last five after 12 straight opening losses to finish 3-14. "I can't give the December losses to them," coach Lane Birkel said of the unit which started playing together in January, lost five or six more, then clicked off consecutive victories over Lincoln High, Fairbury and University High before dropping their final pair.

The only man missing from the cast as Pius concludes a third week of practice is 6-3 forward John McLaughlin, now at Kearney State. In addition to the four starters, two other lettermen return and Birkel actually has seven solid men from which to choose to go along with 6-9 pivot Jim Regelean, whom Birkel says, "We're counting on for sure and is a logical choice."

Mike Sullivan (6-1 and a 5.0 scorer a year ago) and Riedell Lintz, 5-8 and 6.0, return in the backcourt, as do 6-2 Gary Walker, who averaged 10.0, at forward and Regelean, who scored in the pivot at an 11.1 clip.

"We don't have a fixed lineup," Birkel revealed of a problem, but a happy problem when considering what moves he can make.

For instance, the other two returning lettermen are guards, 5-8 Bob Arkfield and 5-11 all-city grid guard Scott Dosek, while 6-2 all-city football end John Hyland and 6-3 Jim Eckles are in the battle for the other forward spot vacated by McLaughlin. "Both are good jumpers and are looking good," Birkel says. "And Mike and Brad Schmidt and Tim Anderson are all good forwards, too."

"I'd like to rotate the guards and forwards to keep them fresh. They play better that way."

Getting to the heart of the matter, Birkel is "looking forward to the boys having a fine season. We have real good guard strength, for they've all played a lot, and Regelean is much improved and has picked up weight (195 now) and strength. We look for Walker to be a good scoring forward, to have good ball-handling from the guards, and some scoring out of Regelean. And we're gonna be quick, especially at guard."

But not all is roses, as Birkel states. "We're going to have to play better defense and more rebounding is another thing we're concerned about." The 'Bolts' will go with a man-to-man defense and the single post when they have the ball.

"It took a month (January) for the boys to develop last year before they started to play together (for a 3-1 February mark)," Birkel recalled. "But this year all the other city teams are going to give us a tough game. There won't be any of them bad."

Pius opens its campaign in its own gym next Saturday, hosting Nebraska City, the team which licked the 'Bolts, 61-53, to end last year's winning streak. Six Omaha foes for Pius are more than any other Lincoln team plays.

Clarion Favored At Aqueduct

New York (AP) — Kentucky Derby winner Proud Clarion, first in two of his four starts since returning to action early last month but narrowly beaten in his most recent race is the 3-5 choice to whip nine rivals in the 1 3/4 miles of the $50,000-added Gallant Fox Handicap at Aqueduct race track Saturday.

The Darby Dan colt was in all kinds of trouble in last Saturday's Queens County Handicap and then just failed to catch Mr. Right in the same style of a stretch run that carried him to a surprise victory in the Kentucky Derby in May.

Under topweight of 124 pounds, he'll give away from nine to 17 pounds to a field that includes Winston Guest's Psyche, a 5-year-old mare making her debut in this country after campaigning in Europe. Psyche, who'll be ridden by French jockey Jean Deborge, has been assigned 11 1/2 pounds.

The track handicapper, however, doesn't rate Psyche at better than 8-1 while making Dunderhead, the second high-weight at 115 pounds, the second choice at 6-1. Barulio Baeza will be aboard Proud Clarion with Ernest Cardone up on Dunderhead.

Rounding out the field for the 29th running of the stakes will be Pretko, 112; Moon-trip, 110; Irish Rebellion, 109; Niarkos, a full sister of Psyche, 112; Quicken Tree, 113; Bold 'n' Jac, 107 and More of 'n' 110.

With 10 starters the race will have a gross value of $58,300 with $37,895 earmarked for the winner.

Former jockey Johnny Longden appears to hold the strongest hand for the $25,000-added Bay Meadows Handicap at Bay Meadows. He'll saddle Aqua Vite, who although picking up topweight of 121 pounds, figures to hold an edge in the 1 1/16-mile race although his 11 rivals will include Carpenter's Rule, a consistent campaigner in the midwest during the summer. Aqua Vite won the Monterey Peninsula Handicap last Saturday.

The 1 1/16-mile of the Laurel Handicap at Laurel, Md., was split into two divisions with each section worth $15,000-added. The first division shapes up as the mostly closed contested affair since it includes Lucky Turn, Green Felt and Margaretten, each assigned 115 pounds in the field of nine. Ten go in the second division with Climax II totting highweight of 119 pounds.

The one mile and 70 yards of the $10,000-added City of Miami Handicap at Tropical Park drew a field of nine with well-regarded Stanislas giving weight under 117 pounds.

The $7,500-added Crescent Handicap for 2-year-olds the Fair Grounds received seven entries headed by Wise Endeavour under 119 pounds. It's a six-furlong race.

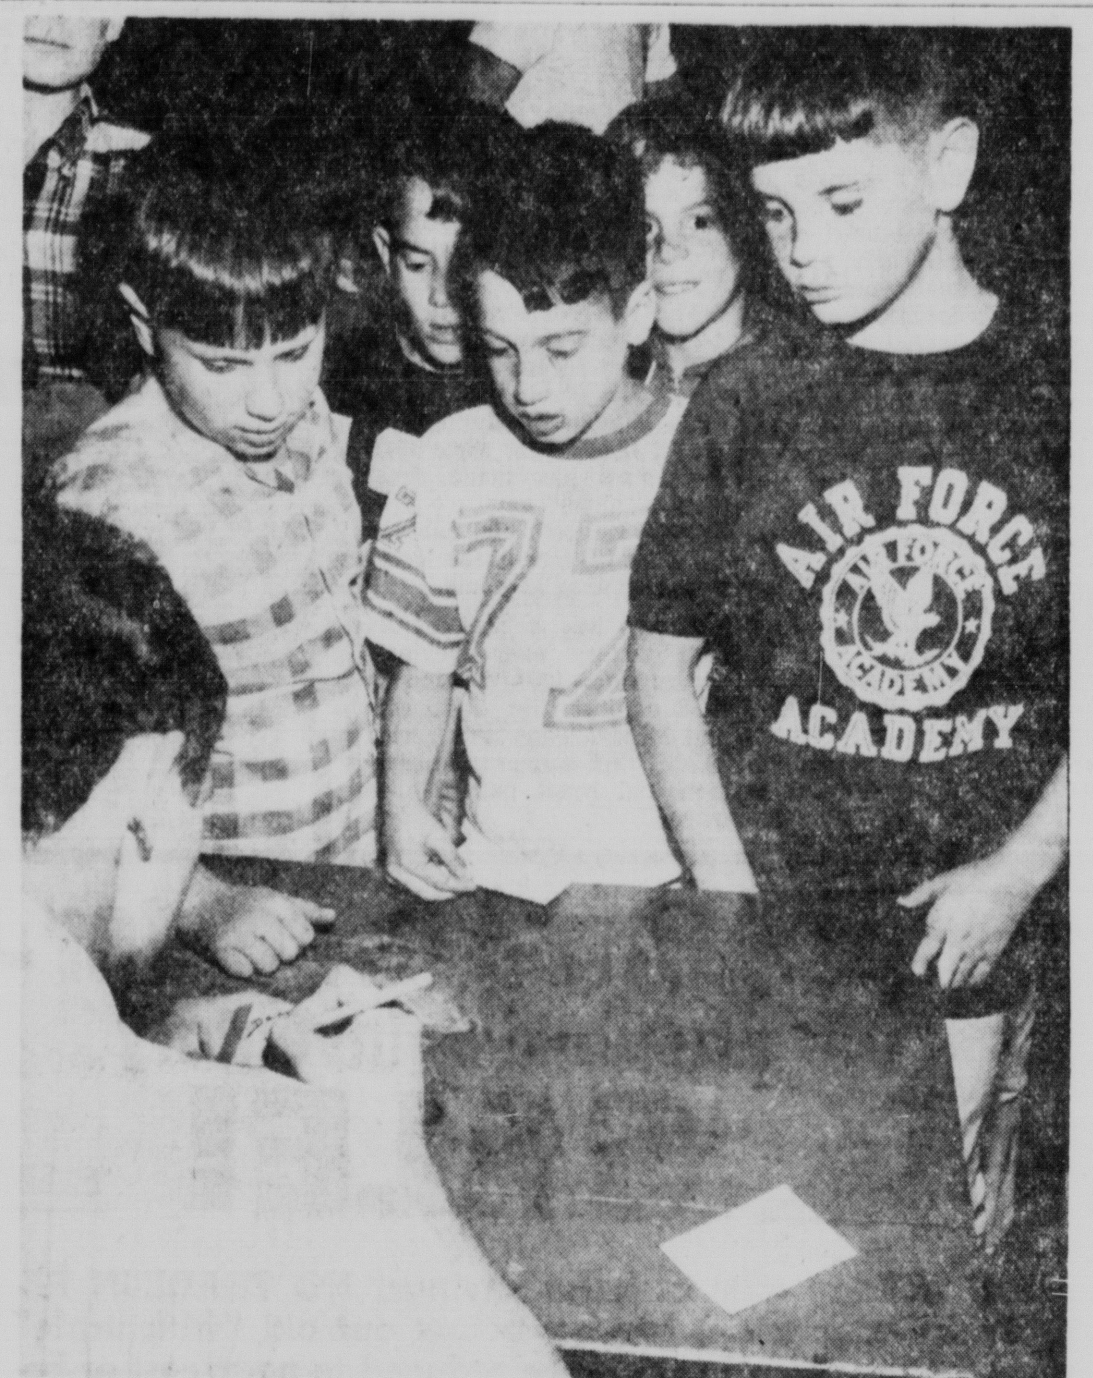

Narragansett Park features the one mile and 70 yards of the East Providence Purse with eight entries topped by Middletown Billy, 121, and Brixton Road 120.

The 1 1/8 miles of the $10,000 Latonia Championship also received eight entries with Hy Frost picking up the heaviest impost of 120 pounds.

Let's Play Ball

Dartmouth will compete in 54 contests this fall on the varsity, junior varsity and freshman level.

... Edwards Says Stand Significant

Los Angeles (AP)—Negro athletes threatening a boycott of the 1968 Olympic Games to illustrate their feelings of racial injustices ran into opposition and support from their race Friday.

Harry Edwards, a teacher of sociology at San Jose State College and former athlete there, said 50 to 60 sports figures attended a Thursday meeting in Los Angeles and unanimously endorsed a boycott.

Edwards, 24, commented, "This is a significant stand because I know of no other group of people who can make our feelings known."

"I hope the country can see what these black athletes have done. This is our last chance to avert a racial catastrophe in this country."

The meeting on the Olympics was part of a three-day Black Youth Conference held at the Second Baptist Church in South Los Angeles. Before the session adjourned violence erupted outside between a group of leftist group picketing and followers of a militant Black Power leader.

Veteran Olympian Ralph Boston, holder of the world record in the long jump, commented in Nashville, Tenn., on the proposed boycott, saying "it doesn't make sense."

He declared, "I don't think this would be the thing that very many people would go along with. I'm sure there are some people who feel that way, but I'm not one of them."

In Washington, D.C., Novell Lee, who won a gold medal boxing at the 1952 Olympics, said, "I don't know who the people are behind the boycott, but they don't realize what they're doing at all. The young athletes are ill advised. Athletics is the only field in which the Negro has been treated well."

"The athletes, if they carry out the boycott, will be doing more to hurt themselves and their image than anything I can imagine."

Cassius Clay, who won an Olympic gold medal in 1960, said, "Giving up a chance at the Olympics and a gold medal is a big sacrifice. But anything they do that's designed to get freedom and equality for their people, I'm with 1,000 per cent."

Clay was stripped of his world heavyweight championship on conviction of draft evasion.

Edwards said that among those attending the Thanks-

More On Boycott,

giving Day meeting were Lew Alcindor and Mike Warren, basketball stars on UCLA's collegiate championship team, sprinters Tommie Smith and Lee Evans of San Jose State, and high jumper

Otis Burrell, formerly of Nevada.

Although members of the United States Olympic teams won't be selected until next year, Edwards said Negro athletes supporting the boycott were among those most likely to be chosen.

He said he does not believe the position will be softened because "the black man has to be given everything that's due him."

The speaker declared he expects all Negroes to support a boycott move because "These people have to live in black communities and this will have a bearing on whether they compete."

'67 Cornhuskers Worked Hardest

Omaha (UPI) — Coach Bob Devaney said here Friday there never has been a year when any of his teams has worked harder than the 1967 Nebraska Cornhuskers.

Addressing a record turnout of 420 at a morning football breakfast at the Crossroads, Devaney summed the season as one of "great effort and a certain amount of frustration."

Assistant coach Tom Osborne and fullback Dick Davis accompanied Devaney.

Despite the 21-14 loss to Big Eight champion Oklahoma Thursday, the genial coach retained his sense of humor.

When I saw so many people coming in here this morning, I turned to Tom and said, 'I hope they're friendly.'

"I've seen groups like this that have presented traveling cases."

Lt. Gov. John Everroad, representing YMCA directors, described Devaney as the "man of the year" and presented him a plaque for leadership and service to youth.

Ed Borchers, president of the board of Boys' Clubs of Omaha, presented the rarely bestowed Man and Boy Award. Borchers noted that Huskers Davis and Joe Ornduna, former Boys' Club members, have made substantial contributions to the Cornhusker football cause.

Dick Herman, University of Nebraska regent, gave Devaney a certificate making him a professor of character building. Herman said, however, that "I want to tell you, Bob, that it is without tenure."

The coach said the Big Eight has to be a tough conference and added it will be tougher next year.

In answer to a question, he said that Oklahoma's Granville Liggins is a great football player. Then he added: "But I think, and I say this honestly, (Wayne) Meylan is a better player. Meylan is the finest defensive player I have ever coached or seen in college football."

Devaney said he has not heard anything about a Liberty Bowl invitation. He thanked the crowd "as being representative of the people of the state of Nebraska, for sticking with us."

Richey, Riessen Opening-Round Tennis Winners

Rio De Janeiro, Brazil (AP)—Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., and Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., won opening matches Thursday night in the international tennis tournament here.

Richey won over Alfonso Pinto Guimaraes of Brazil 6-3, 6-1. Riessen defeated Jaime Pinto Bravo of Chile 6-2, 6-2.

In other matches, Giordano Maioli of Italy beat Patricio Rodriguez of Chile 6-3, 8-6, 6-4; Roger Taylor of Britain beat Jorge Paulo Lemann of Brazil 5-7, 7-5, 6-4; Tom Okker of Holland beat Carlos Pinto Guimaraes of Brazil 6-2, 6-2, and Patricio Cornejo of Brazil defeated Ronald Barnes of Brazil 3-6, 15-13, 6-0.

The Minnesota Gophers are favored to nail down the Rose Bowl bid and it's a toss-up between Florida and Florida State for the open spot in the Gator Bowl as the college football season nears its climax Saturday.

It will take a combination of circumstances to send Minnesota to Pasadena for a Jan. 1 date with top-ranked Southern California. But most observers figure the parlay a sure one.

To earn the trip, the Gophers must beat winless Wisconsin, over whom they are a two-touchdown favorite, while Indiana must drop its game to Purdue, the powerful third-ranked team sparked by Leroy Keyes and a strong two-touchdown pick.

Should Indiana, which lost its only game to Minnesota last week, pull off a surprise and upset Purdue, the Pasadena trip then would go to the Hoosiers. In any tie for the Big Ten championship, Indiana will get the Rose Bowl invitation because it has never gone to the Rose Bowl. Purdue is ineligible, having played there last year.

The winner of the Florida-Alabama game at Gainesville is slated to oppose Penn State in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville Dec. 30. The contest is figured even.

Texas A&M's 10-7 victory over Texas Thursday completed the rest of the major bowl line-up. The Aggies play Alabama in the Cotton Bowl; Oklahoma and Tennessee clash in the Orange Bowl, and Wyoming and Louisiana State are foes in the Sugar Bowl.

Colorado and Miami, Fla., play in the Bluebonnet Bowl Dec. 23 while the Liberty Bowl is awaiting the outcome of Saturday's games to pick a foe for Georgia.

Tennessee and UCLA both are in action, hoping to improve their national ranking in the final poll. The Associated Press poll determining the national champion will be taken next Tuesday.

Tennessee, ranked second behind Southern Cal, plays at Kentucky while fourth-ranked UCLA is host to Syracuse and its hard-running fullback, Larry Csonka, at Los Angeles. Southern Cal has finished its regular schedule.

Tennessee, ranked second behind Southern Cal, plays at Kentucky while fourth-ranked UCLA is host to Syracuse and its hard-running fullback, Larry Csonka, at Los Angeles. Southern Cal has finished its regular schedule.

The Eastern half of the country will see Michigan-Ole Miss, starting at 12:15 p.m. CST, and follow that with Georgia Tech and Georgia, 3:30 p.m. CST. The Western half will get Texas Tech and Arkansas at 12:15 p.m. CST and Washington-Washington State at 3:30 p.m. CST.

The traditional meeting of Yale and Harvard at New Haven is the piece de resistance in the East which also has Penn State playing Pittsburgh, Princeton meeting Dartmouth, Cornell taking on Pennsylvania and Columbia facing Brown.

Yale has won seven straight games since losing its opener to Holy Cross and has dominated the Ivy League with a brilliant quarterback named Brian Dowling and a corps of fleet running mates.

In the Midwest, Michigan State tries to salvage something from a disappointing season against Northwestern, Illinois plays Iowa, and Missouri and Kansas meet in a Big Eight headliner.

Other good games in the South and Southwest are LSU-Tulane, Clemson-South Carolina, Virginia-Maryland, Mississippi-Vanderbilt, Baylor-SMU and TCU-Rice.

Out West, Gary Beban, UCLA quarterback who is a leading candidate for Heisman Trophy honors, closes his college career against Syracuse. Washington is favored over Washington State and Colorado is a pick over the Air Force.

Quarterback Babe Parilli, who apparently has lost his starting job to young Don Trull, was given medical clearance Friday to make the trip. Parilli suffered a knee injury against the Jets.

Lincoln Men's City League basketball season will get under way at 6:45 p.m. Monday at Culler Junior High School.

Bill Dobler, editor of the Lincoln Star and a member of the Lincoln Park and Recreation Board, will send 96 teams and nearly 1,000 basketball players into action by tossing up the first ball to start the season.

Lincoln radio station KLIN will broadcast today's Mineral Water Bowl game from Excelsior Springs, Mo., between Doane and William Jewell beginning at 12:45 p.m. runnersup at 5-5 in the Central Division. The Packers edged the Bears 13-10 in their first clash this season and are favored by just five points in the return at Chicago.

Pittsburgh, 2-7-1, and the Vikings, 2-6-2, are both out of the races in their respective divisions. They meet at Pittsburgh.

New Orleans, 1-9, is a touchdown choice over Atlanta, 1-8-1, in the clash of last place teams at New Orleans.

In the AFL, Houston, second to the New York Jets in the Eastern Division with a 5-3-1 record to the Jets' 7-2-1, hope to close in on the leaders with a victory over Boston, 3-7-1, at Houston. The Oilers are a one-touchdown choice.

Buffalo, 3-7, and Miami, 1-8, both out of the Eastern race, meet at Miami with the Bills favored by a touchdown.

Patriots Promote Mangum

Boston (AP) — Coach Mike Holovak of the Boston Patriots promoted defensive tackle John Mangum to the starting lineup Friday for Sunday's American Football League meeting with the Oilers at Houston.

Holovak said Mangum, a 270-pound second-year pro from Southern Mississippi, earned the assignment for his "great game" in a 29-24 loss last Sunday to the New York Jets. Mangum will replace veteran Jim Hunt at left tackle.

Mangum filled in for ailing Houston Antwine at right tackle against New York. Antwine will return to his regular post in Houston.

Quarterback Babe Parilli, who apparently has lost his starting job to young Don Trull, was given medical clearance Friday to make the trip. Parilli suffered a knee injury against the Jets.

Link Matmen Strong

By JOHN HINES
Star Sports Writer

Eight returning lettermen, including state champion Bobby Orta, return to Lincoln High's wrestling squad this season to put the Links in good shape to replace Southeast as the dominant team in another city prep mat season that gets under way next weekend.

Southeast was hit hardest by graduation, losing two district champs and three district runners-up, but seven lettermen are still around as the Knights aim to repeat league and district titles, plus a dual record that was perfect in the city and was marred only by a one-point loss to Fremont last season.

Pius X likewise has seven lettermen on hand, while Northeast shows five. East starts its first season with 27 sophomores and 10 juniors.

Orta, second in the state as a sophomore and Nebraska 95-pound champion last winter, will start the current campaign at 112.

Other good hands in the Links' camp are 127-pounder Ron Bosquet (third in the district last year), 133-pounder Bob Nimic, Tom Simpson at 154 (third in district), Jim Dickson at 180, and a heavyweight Jim Petersen.

"We should be stronger with these returning lettermen," coach Mel Simpson thinks, "providing nobody gets hurt or grows too much." Two lettermen return at one weight, Wayne Springer and Monte Halstead at 120, but Jack Buehler, district runner-up at 133, won't wrestle again because of a summer back injury.

Despite Southeast's de-

pleted ranks, coach Gail Baum says, "We'll be respectable and improve as the season goes along. There's no one head and shoulders above anybody else now, but I think everybody will win his share as we get experience."

Most of Southeast's point-production should come from 112-pounder Jim Thompson, Steve Hanson at 120, Bill Bronson at 127 and the co-captains, Joe Martin at 180 and heavyweight Phil Tegeler. Martin was Trans-Neb. champion, while the others placed between second and fourth in the district.

Pius coach Charlie Rush is optimistic about five weights, Tom Clark at 112, Dan Rowe at 127, Jim Dobler or Dave Smith at 145, and the 180-heavyweight combination of Russ Kildare and John Bonde, the winner in their challenge matches going at 180.

A year ago Kildare placed third in the district and Clark and Rowe fourth.

Northeast's 165-pounder, John Bulin, heads the Rocket squad, coming off a second-place finish in the district at

154. "We have an awful lot of new boys starting who haven't wrestled much before," coach John McIntyre says. "But they're working real good and coming along." Ed Ubben, now 145, was fourth in the district at 133.

Jack Ramey moves in from Kearney High to guide East. The inexperienced Spartans do have two good grapplers in 95-pounder John Lowe and Lennie Dickinson at 154 or 165, both state jaycee champs.

Bettenhausen Wins As Stars Have Bad Luck

Los Angeles (AP) — Top national drivers A. J. Foyt and Mario Andretti ran into bad luck in a little-car race Thursday night — the Midget Grand Prix at Ascot Park.

Gary Bettenhausen of Tinley Park, Ill., won the 150-lap half-mile dirt oval event in 59:34.13 after leading the last 61 laps.

Andretti broke away from pole position winner Foyt at the start but spun out in the first turn of the 39th lap. Although lapped by the field, Andretti, from Nazareth, Pa., finished fourth.

Fuji-Lopopolo Fight In Works

Milan, Italy (AP) — Manager Steve Klaus said Friday he reached an agreement with Japanese promoters for a title fight in Tokyo between world junior welterweight champion Sandro Lopopolo, the former champion.

Klaus, who just returned from Tokyo where he watched the title fight between Fiji and German challenger Willy Quatuor, said the bout would be held in March.

Fuji dethroned the Italian on a second round knockout in Tokyo last April.

O-State Home Finale Against Kansas State

... 'CATS HOPE TO SNAP LOOP DROUTH

Stillwater, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma State plays its last home game of the season Saturday, hosting Kansas State in a Big Eight Conference football game.

The biggest problems facing the Cowboys are coach Phil Cutchin's overconfidence and a tendency to look past the Wildcats to the season finale next week against rival Oklahoma.

Kansas State, much improved but still down in the win department, hasn't won a conference game since beating the Cowboys, 17-14, in 1964. This year K-State won its opener over Colorado State, 17-7, snapping a long losing streak.

The Wildcats played close games with Kansas and Nebraska.

Oklahoma State is 3-4-1 for the season, and 2-3 in league play. Victories in these last two games would give the cowpokes their first better than .500 season in years.

The Cowboys will be going for their first home victory of the season, having lost two after tying Air Force, 0-0, in the season opener.

Despite the losing record, Oklahoma State has shown flashes of brilliance this season, and Cutchin said Thursday he thought practices this week had been the best of the season.

The Cowboys stunned Colorado and Arkansas in upsets, and last week the offense exploded for four touchdowns, three by Larry Gosney, in the 28-14 win over Iowa State.

Quarterback Ronnie Johnson has passed effectively on occasions, and has been improving since returning to the lineup in the Colorado game. The hard-rushing Cornelius Davis, the Big Eight's leading rusher last season, heads the K-State ground game, and quarterback Bill Nossek is the third-leading passer in the Big Eight.

Bowler Follows Same Sequence In Three Games

Washington (AP) — Tenpin bowler Harold O. Berry scored 169 in each game of his three-game set with the same frame-for-frame pattern in each string.

Spare in the first, strike in the second, spare in the third, strike in the fourth, spare in the fifth and sixth, strike in the seventh, spare in the eighth, an eight count in the ninth and nine in the tenth.

Matt Bennie, who retired in September as president of the American Bowling Congress, said such an accomplishment is unheard of.

Power To Use Gls Questioned

By E. W. KENWORTHY

Washington — A week ago the Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved, 14 to 0, a resolution stating it to be the sense of the Senate that, in the future, United States armed forces should not be committed "to hostilities on foreign territory" without "affirmative action by Congress."

In a report on the resolution, Tuesday the committee recommended that any future resolution like the Tonkin Gulf resolution of August 1964, "authorize" the president to use armed forces and "not merely express approval of undefined action to be taken by the president."

The report also said the resolution should be explicit as to the kind of action authorized, the place and the purpose of its use, and contain a time limit, "thereby assuring Congress the opportunity to review its decision."

LBJ Dismisses It

Without waiting to see the report, President Johnson dismissed the committee action, almost contemptuously. He had his own views, he said in a news conference, "about really what" the resolution would achieve.

Many senators, and not merely those on the committee, believe the President is making a mistake in treating the resolution so cavalierly.

They concede that the question of the president's authority to use the armed forces in carrying out foreign policy is one that has divided the executive and legislative branches almost since the beginning of the Republic, and one on which it is possible to marshal historical evidence and scholarly argument on either side.

Transcends It

Nevertheless, these senators contend that what the committee has done transcends this question, at least so far as the success of Johnson's administration is concerned. The committee, these senators argue, has not simply advocated a reversion to an earlier constitutional theory and practice. More importantly, it has laid before the President the most tangible evidence of a condition of mind, an attitude, that has been taking shape for years and that has finally hardened with the extension and intensification of the Vietnam war. This attitude, it is maintained, has already had damaging by-products and could have more if the President continues to ignore it.

This attitude, in simplest terms, can be stated thus:

Gradually since the turn of the century and rapidly since 1950, presidents, for reasons that often seemed plausible and with the acquiescence of Congress, have assumed, and sometimes usurped, authority in foreign affairs, particularly in the use of the armed forces, beyond the letter and the spirit of the Constitution.

Overextension Seen

With this accretion of power which, they argued, was either "inherent" in their office or rightfully devolved upon it because of the executive's "expertise," the presidents have dangerously overextended the nation's military and economic commitments.

Many members of Congress are now convinced it is time to reverse this trend, to insist on fuller consultation with Congress, and where the use of the armed forces in conflict is concerned to require "affirmative" action by Congress.

Does this mean that there has already begun a swing of the pendulum back to isolationism?

Very few members of Congress think so. In the growing sentiment for a reduction in commitments, they point out, there is little of the traditional aversion of "entangling alliances" counseled by George Washington, or the cynical, indifferent and self-righteous isolationism of the 1920s and '30s, or the "Fortress America" concept put forward in 1950-51 in opposition to sending troops to Europe.

What they want, many "internationalist" senators say, is a stricter sense of proportion and a harder set of priorities.

Student Protests In Calcutta Leave Five Dead

By New York Times Service

Calcutta, India — Student protests against the ousting of the united front regime in West Bengal led to street battles with the police Friday in which five youths were killed.

Several buses were set afire, a traditional form of protest in this crowded city where the transit system is state-owned.

But the important point was that the buses and street cars were back on the streets after a two-day general strike that paralyzed the city. The strike was called by the united front following its dismissal by the governor Tuesday night on instructions from Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government.

The front issued a statement Friday lauding the people for their "magnificent" resistance to the new government. According to an official estimate, five persons have been killed by police fire since the protests began.

More than 2,500 persons have been arrested in the state, about 150 of them, mainly leftists, without charge under a law permitting preventive detention.

With the strike ended, much of Calcutta returned to that state of strain and tumult that passes for normalcy in India's largest city. Garbage was collected for the first time since the new government took over.

But the gradual return of order was no indication of any subsiding of anger over the appointment of Prafulla Chandra G h o s h, a defector from the united front, as the new chief minister.

It was generally acknowledged that the front had shown it has the power to shut this city down, then summon it back to life. No one needed to be reminded that it was the Communist parties in the front that have been effectively wielding that power.

State's Traffic Dips One Pct.

October traffic statistics gathered by the State Department of Roads from checkpoints across the state show a one per cent decrease in the use of Nebraska streets and highways last month, as compared with October last year.

A 9% increase in daily travel over Interstate 80 at the Douglas-Sarpy County lines was reported.

Over-all, the October traffic represented an 8% decrease from September.

Comparisons of October traffic at selected checkpoints, with year-ago levels:

- U.S. 30 west of Elm Creek, down 2%.
- U.S. 77-275 north of Fremont, up 23%.
- U.S. 6 north of Gretna, down 1%.
- U.S. 73-75 south of Union, up 1%.
- U.S. 20 west of South Sioux City, down 3%.
- U.S. 20 east of Chadron, down 3%.
- U.S. 6-24 west of Arapahoe, down 5%.
- Interstate 80 east of Overton Junction, up 19%.
- U.S. 34 at Scottsbluff, up 3%.
- U.S. 34 at Nebraska-Colorado state line, down 11%.

Opposition Loses To Mrs. Gandhi

By New York Times Service

New Delhi — An opposition move to censure Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government was defeated in parliament Friday after she had defended her government's dismissal of the opposition regimes in West Bengal and Haryana states.

In the voting, after three days of debate, Mrs. Gandhi's Congress Party defeated the censure motion by 215 votes to 88.

Maoists Set Forth On New Campaign

By New York Times Service

Hong Kong — The Mao Tse-tung regime in Peking has launched a new campaign to promote production, discipline and the predominance of Maoist forces in the countryside.

An integral part of the campaign is another attempt to discredit chief of state Liu Shao-chi by charging him with opposition to collectivized agriculture.

The campaign was heralded in an article published Friday in Peking in all three of the main press organs of the Peking government, Renmin Jih Pao, Hungchi fortnightly and Chieh Fang Chun Pao.

China analysts here see nothing in the article to indicate any intention to make any marked change, at present, in the commune system as it is now operating.

Army Induction Refused

Nashville, Tenn. (AP) — Black Power advocate Fred Brooks, who told Senate investigators Wednesday he would approve shooting Mrs. Lyndon Johnson "if she was my enemy," was arrested here Friday on a charge of refusing to submit himself for induction into the Army.

Brooks, 20, former Nashville chairman of the Student Non-Violating Coordinating Committee, was taken into custody by FBI agent Larry Olson.

Conviction for refusing to be drafted carries a maximum penalty of three years in prison.

Brooks waived preliminary hearing before a U.S. commissioner and was jailed in lieu of $5,000.

Two days ago, U.S. Dist. Court Judge William E. Miller refused Brooks a court order which would have delayed his induction. The judge ruled that Brooks had not exhausted all Selective Service appeals.

Stock Market Treat

New York (AP)—The stock market halted an early retreat and reversed itself Friday on news that President Johnson had reaffirmed the U.S. determination to defend the dollar.

Uneasiness about the fate of the dollar in foreign exchange highlighted a day in which there was a tremendous wave of gold buying abroad in an aftermath to Britain's devaluation of the pound sterling.

The Dow Jones industrial average, cancelling early losses ended with a moderate gain of 3.58 at 877.60.

Of 1,462 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 586 rose and 651 fell. Highs and lows for the year were equal at 37.

Volume for the pre-week session slipped to 9.47 million from the 12.18 million traded in the active session Wednesday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 1.2 to 314.9 with industrials up 1.3, rails off .1 and utilities up 1.3.

Nine of the 15 most active stocks advanced, five declined and American Telephone was unchanged at 51.

Occidental Petroleum, with its proposed 3-for-1 stock split and dividend hike, was the most active stock, up 2 1/2 at 103 1/2 on 184,200 shares.

Benguet, the Philippine gold mining issue, was the most active of its group, rising 5/8 to 6 1/2. Other active gold-mining issues were American South African, up 5/8, and Homestake, up 3/4.

Among less actively traded golds, Campbell Red Lake rose 3/4, Dome Mines 5/8, and McIntyre-Porcupine 3/4.

Some other nonferrous metals also were strong. Kennecott gained 1/4, International Nickel 3/4, Anaconda 1/4, and American Smelt & Refining 1/2.

Control data rose 6 1/2 and Polaroid 7 1/2. Strong demand expected for selected issues.

International Telephone rose 1/4, Public Service Electric & Gas 1/4, IBM 1/4, and American International 1/4.

U.S. Gypsum dropped 3/4, Xerox 1/4, Raytheon 1/4, and American International 1/4.

'Let Freedom Ring' Recording Links Kennedy To 'Treason'

Washington (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy brushed aside Friday a right-wing assault — available at the twirling of a phone dial — suggesting he is guilty of treason and incitement to anarchy.

"The senator doesn't care to dignify every extremist who makes a wild charge," an aide to the New York Democrat said.

A recorded message from "Let Freedom Ring" could be dialed on the Washington telephone exchange this week — the fourth anniversary of the week in which Kennedy's brother, President John F. Kennedy, was assassinated.

Treason? Kennedy said he would be willing to give his blood to our Communist enemies in Vietnam," the recorded, anonymous voice said. "Isn't advocating the giving of blood to enemy troops treason, just as much as dynamiting a defense plant or assassinating the president? If this isn't treason, then how do you define it?"

In a news conference two years ago, Kennedy said he would not object to the giving of blood to North Vietnamese soldiers — through an agency like the International Red Cross, and with U.S. government approval.

"I'd rather concentrate on the South Vietnamese, and those who need it," Kennedy said "but I'm in favor of giving blood to anyone. I think that's in the oldest tradition of this country."

The scripts for "Let Freedom Ring" are written by a Sarasota, Fla., physician, William C. Douglass. Douglass said Friday that while there is no formal link between his organization and the John Birch Society, "I've been a Birch Society member for six or seven years."

No Connection Robert Welch, leader of the militantly conservative Birch group, said the society "had nothing to do with 'Let Freedom Ring.'"

Douglass said his scripts are mailed weekly to 135 "stations" across the nation, where they are taped for use on local telephone exchanges. The local groups may tack on announcements of area interest.

STRENGTHEN YOUR FAITH

Through Regular Church Worship

BROKEN VOWS

*A Vow
Is A Serious Thing*

Our promise and your performance reveal the quality of your soul.

A promise will make a friend but performance will keep him. Are you keeping your marriage vows, your vows to your church or synagog? When you make vows to God, do you keep them or do you go AWOL on Him? "When thou shalt vow a vow unto the Lord thy God, thou shalt not slack to pay it, for the Lord thy God will surely require it of thee." Faithful performance of good vows strengthens character, honors God and makes a better citizen.
